

ENATE LEADERS AGREE TO SPEED REVENUE ACTION

Tariff Amendments To House Bill To Be Sharply Limited

Washington, Apr. 12 — (AP) — Joint determination to enact promptly the billion-dollar tax bill — keystone of the 1933 budget structure — today dispelled fears that the measure might founder in a senatorial storm over tariff duties.

Senate Democrats, in a four hour conference last night, agreed unanimously on expeditious consideration of the bill. In so doing they agreed that barring all tariff amendments to the measure is an impossibility, but held fast to the position that general tariff consideration is out of the question.

As a result, and with assured support of Republican leaders, a compromise limiting the bill to a few tariff amendments on oil, coal, copper and wool pulp — is in sight. The first two already are in the bill, the others are backed by strong and determined support.

To Speed Action

With this solid congressional backing for speeding the huge bill, President Hoover turned confidently to demand of the business world a fresh conviction in American security, and a halt to the steady decline in prices on the public exchanges. Late yesterday it was disclosed he was planning to summon business and industrial leaders for action in a new program of national unity against the unfavorable economic factors.

The President in the evening, and before the Democratic meeting, called in Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, to confer at length on general conditions and particularly on the revenue measure and the economy program. Robinson is inclined to leave the latter in the hands of the House where appropriations originate.

Long Night Parley

It was nearly midnight when Robinson emerged from the party conference, all smiles, to give out a brief resolution:

"It is the sense of the conference of Democratic Senators that the hearings on the revenue bill be closed at the earliest practical date and that the passage of the measure be expedited in every possible way."

Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, immediately concurred in this pronouncement. Earlier in the day he had initiated a movement looking to the compromise for limited revision of the tariff which would open the way for quick disposition of the revenue bill.

Consider Bonus Source

A sharp difference of opinion over means to secure money for paying the $2,400,000,000 soldiers' bonus developed between advocates of the legislation in today's hearing before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Representative Patman (Democrat, Texas) who is directing the bonus campaign, has urged the issuance of United States currency on the Treasury.

Today Senator Thomas (Democrat, Okla.), another advocate of the bonus payment, testified the Patman plan would "kill the Federal Reserve System unless Congress appropriated directly for its support."

Thomas said the bonus certificates should be cashed in Federal Reserve bank notes based on two per cent government consols issued to the amount of $2,400,000,000.

Father Charles E. Coughlin, director of a Detroit radio, appeared for the bonus payment. He said he did not represent the Catholic church but expressed the sentiments of more than 2,500,000 letters received in the last 27 weeks.

Acting Chairman Crisp of the Ways and Means Committee announced that George L. Henderson, Governor of the New York Federal Reserve Bank and Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank, will be requested to testify on the soldiers' bonus issue.

Crisp explained that Thomas had made partial quotations from these bankers indicating they were favorable to credit expansion and believed it only fair that they should have an opportunity to state their exact position.

"Unknown's" Tomb Finally Complete

Washington, April 12 — (AP) — The marble tomb beneath which sleeps America's Unknown Soldier was completed today at Arlington National Cemetery.

After six years, a design commemorating "Peace, Victory and Valor" was finished on the monument by Thomas Hudson Jones, New York sculptor.

The Unknown Soldier was buried at Arlington on Armistice Day 1921, to symbolize forever the nation's reverence for those who sacrificed their lives in the World War.

Five years later Congress authorized an appropriation for a simple sarcophagus of white marble eleven feet high and nine feet wide. It was set in place last December and, while a sentry paced his post beside the tomb, the sculptor finished his task.

POSTPONE LOAN FUND

Washington, Apr. 12 — (AP) — The House Agriculture committee today indefinitely postponed action on a resolution to establish a $5,000,000 loan fund for southeastern storm sufferers.

Weather conditions were charged with causing more than 30 per cent of airplane accidents during the last six months of 1930.

Some Oddities In Wire News Today From Various Parts

USED TOOTHPLICKS.

St. Paul, April 12 — (AP) — Toothpicks guarded the front door when her husband went to work, Mrs. Carl W. Peters said in a divorce action filed yesterday.

She asserted Peters placed them on top of the door. If they were disturbed during his absence, he knew someone had been there and asked questions.

He locked her in the house for days at a time because of jealousy, the suit charged further. They were married at Altoona, Wis. in 1916.

GREATLY EXAGGERATED.

Hollsboro, N. M., April 12 — (AP) — Former Governor George Curry of Hot Springs, erroneously reported dead last night, was alive and en route here today to attend the funeral of LaPayette M. Taylor, pioneer Indian fighter who died Sunday afternoon.

Taylor and Curry had been life long friends. In reporting Taylor's death it was erroneously stated that it was Governor Curry who had died.

Taylor, one of the early pioneers in southern New Mexico, and Curry, a territorial Governor, spent much of their early life in the southwest together. Curry will say a few words today at his friend's funeral.

COWS NOT RIGHT KIND.

Chicago, April 11 — (AP) — The reason Joseph Mankus has to pay alimony is because there aren't enough of the right kind of cows in Cook county.

The matter of alimony brought a protest from Mankus when he appeared before Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday.

"She" he said, referring to his wife, Della, "has demonstrated ability to earn her own living milking cows. She was the champion milker of Lithuania. Last summer she earned her vacation bond by milking on a Wisconsin farm."

"But" protested Mrs. Mankus, "they had Lithuanian cows. Only that kind understands my milking technique. There aren't enough in Cook county so I could go into business."

Judge Sabath awarded her $10 a week temporary alimony.

OBJECTIONS SUSTAINED.

Evansville, Ind., April 12 — (AP) — Everything is safe now for the Evansvilians who objected to a public display of bronze nudists.

Twenty-eight statues, reproductions in bronze of the famous works of the French sculptor, Rodin, were the objects of their protest. They were placed in a hotel lobby with the announcement they would be there for two weeks.

But the hotel manager protested to Professor Rensselaer Lee of Northwestern University, who was to lecture about them.

"I have received many complaints," said the manager, "from residents of the hotel and from others who feel such an exhibition is a bit too."

The professor said he quite understood, and it was arranged to move the statues to a less public spot on the sixth floor of the hotel, where Professor Lee will talk about them.

TO FORCE VOTE ON BEER.

Washington, April 12 — (AP) — A petition to force a vote in the House on the O'Connor-Hull bill to legalize 2.75 per cent beer was filed in the House today by Representative O'Connor (D. N. Y.).

It requires 145 signers to discharge the Ways and Means committee and to force a House vote on whether it will consider the bill.

O'Connor told the House he expected the 145 signatures in time to bring the matter to a vote April 25 or May 9.

"It is supported by both wet blocs in the House," he said.

WINTRY BLASTS GREET OPENING FOR BASE BALL

Contests In Detroit And Boston Called Off This Noon

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Plagued by snow, rain and cold weather, baseball's major league campaign faced an inauspicious start today.

Despite the poor weather at least 150,000 fans, who had the necessary tickets and overcoats, were expected to pass through the turnstiles in six major league parks to witness the general opening of another pennant race.

Only at Philadelphia, Cincinnati and St. Louis was there anything resembling "baseball weather," reports to The Associated Press showed, and even in those cities hot coffee was more in order than soda pop.

Two Games Postponed

Snow showers in the season in Detroit and caused postponement of the opener there between the Tigers and the Cleveland Indians, and rain caused postponement of the game scheduled at Boston between the Washington Senators and the Red Sox.

As befitted the outstanding game in the two leagues, the meeting between Athletics and Yankees, the weather at Philadelphia was the most favorable of all the big league cities. It was clear with the thermometer standing at 48 degrees at 8 A. M., and mounting every minute.

The outstanding game in the National League also drew fair weather, the temperature being 42 at St. Louis at 8 A. M. for the opening game of the world champion Cardinals against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Cold In Chicago

Freezing temperatures and a brisk wind marked the day at Chicago, where the White Sox and St. Louis Browns were scheduled.

The temperature was only 36 at Cincinnati early in the morning, although a warm sun promised a considerably higher mark by the time the Reds and Chicago Cubs took the field.

The skies were cloudy in New York City for the Giants-Philadelphia meeting and the Brooklyn-Boston Braves set-to. It was too cool for comfort with the temperature in the low forties.

The largest crowds were expected at Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Philadelphia, with the Dodgers drawing the top of 40,000, Cincinnati not far behind and 30,000 expected at Shibe Park in the Quaker City.

MENDOTA YOUTH MET DEATH BY TRAIN IN WEST

Was Hitch-Hiking To West To Seek Em- ployment There

Mendota, Ill. — Sherman L. Blackburn, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blackburn, of east of Mendota, was killed by a train at Stockton, Calif., about 6:15 o'clock Sunday evening, according to a telegram received at 11:10 o'clock Sunday night by his parents.

Details of the young man's death were lacking, the communication merely stating that young Blackburn had been killed by a train.

Sherman, well known in this section, left here three weeks ago in company with Forrest Klinefelter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Klinefelter, also of Troy Grove township, and Russell Kleckner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Kleckner of Mendota.

The trio left here with the intention of "hitch-hiking" their way to the Pacific coast where they were to seek employment.

Born in Troy Grove township on January 17, 1917, the youth is survived by his parents; one brother, Russell, at home; and five sisters, Mrs. Marie Strous, Hinkley, the Misses Donna, May, Vieta and Helen, at home.

Arrangements were being made Monday to return the body to Troy Grove township for burial.

The telegram telling the young man's death was signed by both Forrest Klinefelter and Russell Kleckner.

Paw Paw Spur Is Awarded By Leake

County Superintendent of Highway Fred W. Leake has received the official approval of the state Department of Public Work and Buildings of the plans for the completion of the Paw Paw spur, the second of the system of cement spurs to be constructed under a program which is intended to connect all Lee county villages with state highways.

The contract for the construction of approximately four miles of cement slab has been awarded to the firm of Zolpher & Sons of Mendota. It is expected that under favorable weather conditions grading activities will be started within the next two weeks. When completed the spur will connect Paw Paw with state highway, route 71, which is to be constructed through the east part of Lee county to this summer connecting with route 70.

Work is already underway on the construction of this new stretch of approximately seven and one-half miles of cement highway in the east end of the county. Grading and culvert construction work are well under way and a large bridge near Seaboard is nearing completion. The Central Engineering Company, of Moline are the contractors.

INDICTMENT OF WALNUT PAPER HEAD IS SOUGHT

H. U. Bailey One Of Complainants For Alleged Libel

Princeton, Ill. — The Bureau county grand jury was called into special session here Monday to hear evidence to be submitted by H. U. Bailey, publisher of the Bureau County Republican, weekly newspaper, and William Teece, former supervisor of state fish hatcheries, by which they seek indictment of E. C. Wilson, editor of the Walnut Leader, another weekly, on charges of criminal libel.

This action on the part of Bailey and Teece is in retaliation of articles published in last Friday's issue of the Leader, of which 10,000 copies were distributed throughout Bureau county attacking the political records of the two former members of the Len Small organization.

The jurors had been ordered to convene at 10 o'clock but when conferences with State Attorney Carey R. Johnson during the morning were completed, Bailey and Teece announced that they were not yet prepared with their evidence. It was stated that the hearing would be continued until 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

PRIMARIES ARE UNDER WAY IN FIVE OF STATES

National Interest Is Shown In Illinois, Nebraska Polls

Washington, Apr. 12 — (AP) — The political cross winds of April sweep today over five widely scattered states where primaries and party conventions select 96 Democratic and 101 Republican delegates to the presidential nominating conventions at Chicago.

National interest centered on the Illinois Republican and Nebraska Democratic races. Of the 61 Republican delegates being selected in Illinois, a group of 15 Chicagoans were running definitely opposed to renomination of President Hoover and on a prohibition repeal platform. Most of the downstate delegate candidates were believed to be pro-Hoover.

Former Senator France of Maryland was the only candidate for the Republican preference vote in Illinois, but he had no delegates in the field.

In Nebraska, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Speaker Garner and Governor Murray of Oklahoma, fought it out for the preference vote in the first three-way contest of these candidates. The state organization was back of the New Yorker who is now far in the lead for the nomination. Sixteen delegates were being chosen.

Fifty-four district delegates were being named by the Illinois Democrats and were lined up for Senator J. Hamilton Lewis.

Nebraska Republicans also were selecting 17 delegates, probably for Hoover, although unpledged. France also was the lone candidate there for the preference vote. Besides the two states, Kentucky Democrats in convention were choosing 26 delegates, already promised Roosevelt, and Florida and Missouri Republican conventions were naming 16 and 7 delegates, respectively.

Pine Creek Boys Face Theft Charge

Morris Mongan and Elmer Cloyd, 18-year-old youths, residing in Pine Creek township, were arrested about 6 o'clock last evening by Sheriff Frank Murray of Oregon, following an investigation which was started here by Sheriff Fred Richardson earlier in the day. The two youths were reported to have offered several chickens for sale at a local poultry house, the manager of which became suspicious and reported the license on the car.

The investigation developed the fact that the boys were from Ogle county and it was suspected that the birds had been stolen. From reports from the Ogle county sheriff's office today, it was stated that the pair had confessed having stolen the chickens sold in Dixon yesterday from the Ira Beard farm near Pennsylvania Corners. They are also said to have confessed to having made three previous raids on the flock of Mongan's father, William Mongan. Both are held in the county jail at Oregon and will be arraigned for preliminary hearing Wednesday morning.

Mrs. T. Ingram Of Binghampton Dead

(Special Telegraph Service)

Amboy, April 12 — Mrs. Louise N. Ingram, wife of Thomas Ingram and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Daniels, passed away at her home in Binghampton Monday afternoon. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock, Rev. Henry Denison officiating, and with burial in Temperance Hill cemetery. Mrs. Ingram is survived by her husband, three daughters, two sons, thirteen grand children, one great grandchild, two brothers and three sisters. Obituary will be published later.

ELKS LOSE APPEAL

Springfield, Ill., April 12 — (AP) — The Elks Club of Rockford today was denied a rehearing in its fight against paying taxes of $2,479.52 in Winnebago county, by the Illinois Supreme Court.

In an opinion given at the last term the court held that the Elks Club is not a "charitable institution" as defined by the law and thus is not exempt from taxation. The order today closes the case.

CONDITIONS IMPROVE

Washington, Apr. 12 — (AP) — Better employment conditions in three countries were reported by Commerce Department.

France, Great Britain and Mexico were the nations reported to have improved the unemployment situation. In some form of unemployment relief and 6,840,000 more have benefited through the distribution of free government flour.

Alimony Racket Too Strong For Garfield; Suicide

Chicago, Apr. 12 — (AP) — If Garfield J. Schieferstein, 50, had had a little while, life for him might have gone along very smoothly.

April 15 was the date set by Judge Harry B. Miller for a hearing on his application for a reduction in alimony, a matter he had been attending to for thirteen years, during which he paid out $34,500 to his wife Mildred for the support of her and her daughter, Dorothy.

But Schieferstein did not wait. Instead he went into a private garage last night, started the engine of his automobile and died from the monoxide fumes.

"I leave this world," he said in a farewell note, "because I have been ruined by my wife and laws and courts that make the racket of alimony possible. I am in a position where I cannot meet my obligations even though I live like a hermit. In one of my vacant flats with but a bed and chair as my only furniture."

"Two years ago she started to take my property away when I ran a few weeks behind. This she can do easily as the alimony is a lien on my property XXXX."

"I had the grief and she had the grave. Good bye world. You are too much for me."

Judge Miller, informed of the suicide, said a retroactive reduction might have been possible. His attitude in such cases, he added, took into consideration conditions which make it difficult for men to pay alimony which they easily could have met several years ago.

Schieferstein got behind with his payments recently, but managed to escape joining the "Alimony Club" in the county jail, where about ninety men are now held.

ERUPTIONS IN ANDES MENACE BIG TERRITORY

May Be Forerunner Of World-Wide Vol- canic Wave

Santiago, Chile, April 12 — (AP) — Volcanic eruptions which had terrorized villagers in the foothills of the Andes for two days appeared to be subsiding this morning. The sun shone feebly from a sky only partially hidden by clouds of fine volcanic ash.

The dust had stopped falling in Santiago, and over the rest of the wide zone affected yesterday the fall was not so heavy. Selamopoli, the sun shone feebly from a sky only partially hidden by clouds of fine volcanic ash.

The dust had stopped falling in Santiago, and over the rest of the wide zone affected yesterday the fall was not so heavy. Selamopoli, the sun shone feebly from a sky only partially hidden by clouds of fine volcanic ash.

Officials here were considering requests for railway facilities to begin the evacuation of Mendoza and other afflicted areas should the situation grow worse. Half a dozen villages near Mendoza, which was shaken three times yesterday, awaited the arrival of government trucks bearing first aid supplies to the people, many of whom have been without sleep for two nights, terrified by the rain of ashes and the sulphurous gases.

Volcanoes were becoming active which have long been considered dead. At Malargue earth cracks appeared last night and the ash blanket was 11.5 inches deep before midnight.

In suite of the widespread terror throughout the western territory, more conservative scientists here were inclined to believe that the volcanic activity was foreboding and disconcerting than actually dangerous.

To Show New Boat

Toronto, Apr. 12 — (AP) — Kaye Don, former holder of the world's speedboat record, will show his new racing boat, Miss England III, at the Canadian National Exhibition in August if it proves satisfactory in time trials at Lake Garda, Italy.

Lord Wakefield, owner of the boat, has sent this word to exhibition authorities.

Don's world's record of 110,223, set at Lake Garda last year, was exceeded this winter by Gar Wood, Detroit speedster, at Miami Beach, Fla. setting up a new universal mark of 111,712.

Don is expected to challenge for the Harmsworth trophy again this year. Wood now holds the international trophy. Don turned over in attempting to wrest the trophy from Wood last summer on the Detroit river, damaging his Miss England II.

BILL GIVEN BY LINDY IN HANDS OF CHIC WOMAN

Attempts To Break It In Greenwich Conn. Bak- ery And Flees

BULLETIN

Norfolk, Va., April 12 — (AP) — The Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock said today he had been advised that his two associates in negotiations for the return of the stolen Lindbergh baby conferred yesterday with Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Dean Dobson-Peacock said he had heard from John Hughes Curtis, who left here Sunday by plane, but he declined to reveal details of information had been given him. He said he had not heard from Rear Admiral Guy H. Bursage, retired, the third member of the trio, whose absence from Norfolk since Saturday was first reported to have no connection with the negotiations.

He would not state where the conference with Colonel Lindbergh took place.

Hopewell, N. J., April 12 — (AP) — A chic woman in a green town car became a quarry in the great Lindbergh kidnaping hunt today.

On the highways of many states, police sought her after a bakery proprietress in Greenwich, Conn., spotted a $20 bill she proffered in payment for a strawberry pie as part of the $50,000 ransom muleted from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The hunt intensified when detectives recalled that a green sedan was seen near the Lindbergh home on Sourland Mountain on the night of the kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., on March 1.

This development, and a theory that the person who took Col. Lindbergh's $50,000 without returning the stolen child was an estranged member of the kidnap gang who no longer has the baby in his possession stirred the mystery to a new boiling point.

Police Puzzled

Police, wise in the underworld's ways, had expected the swindler or swindlers of the Flying Colonel to wait months before trying to spend the cash obtained by a double cross, but the Greenwich development, assuming the bakery owner got the number of the bill right, showed they had dared to throw discretion to the winds.

There was no indication as to whether the unknown woman actually was connected with the kidnaping or swindle, but the haste with which she fled when the number on the bill was pointed out, roused police suspicions.

No word from the kidnapers since the swindle has been received by Col. Lindbergh, said Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf, head of the State Police, after a conference in New York with Col. Henry Breckenridge, legal adviser of Lindbergh.

Secret Conferences

Dr. John F. Condon, aged educator described as the author of a series of cryptic newspaper advertisements signed "Jafis" which led to the thwarted negotiations for the baby's return, was believed to have attended the conference also.

Dr. Condon was quoted as believing the "situation would adjust itself" but three Norfolk men have been negotiating with a person they believe to be an agent for the kidnapers were represented as pessimistic about the return of the baby by the person who took the $50,000.

The Norfolk intermediaries are understood to have warned Col. Lindbergh they were dealing with the real abductors, and that the other person was a member of the gang who broke away and used his inside knowledge to make $50,000.

Red Cross Helped 7,400,000 Needy

Washington, April 12 — (AP) — Red Cross workers were told today that their organization, giving a helping hand to the unemployed, drought and storm victims and war veterans, served more than 7,400,000 needy persons in recent months.

Addressing the annual convention of the Red Cross, Robert E. Bondy, National Director of Disaster Relief, found significant in these figures the unity that has developed the Red Cross into a great national relief agency, closely knit, functioning smoothly in varied branches of service to suffering humanity.

Two thousand local chapters, he said, have served 1,177,000 persons in some form of unemployment relief and 6,840,000 more have benefited through the distribution of free government flour.

Terse Items Of News Gathered In Dixon During Day

POISONER ABROAD

Sheriff Fred Richardson was summoned to Ashton yesterday afternoon to investigate a report of wholesale poisoning of cats and dogs. A citizen reported that both cats and dogs were being poisoned and shot within the city limits and an investigation is being conducted.

DIED IN SPOKANE

Friends here have received word of the death of Luther Gruver, Saturday night in a hospital in Spokane, Washington, after an automobile accident. Mr. Gruver was associated with the Bovey lumber yards here years ago and has many friends here among the older residents.

FOUGHT TWIN FIRES

The fire department was called to extinguish twin fires this morning at 8:30 when they were summoned to the G. E. Lindeman residence at 815 S. Hennepin avenue. Sparks from a chimney set fire to the shingles on the Lindeman property and the Donovan property adjoining. Both fires were extinguished with minor damage to the properties, which was covered by insurance.

BOAST WAS CALLED

According to reports, the school election at Lee Center was not entirely without some feeling Saturday afternoon. One enthusiast is said to have declared his ability to "lick" any individual within the village limits, and had scarcely completed his boast when he was dropped for the count with a single blow from a much smaller and less boastful citizen who overheard the challenge.

HEARS AMBOY CASE

Louis Entorf of Amboy was the complainant in a suit heard by Judge Harry Edwards in the circuit court yesterday afternoon, in which the former seeks to recover rental for a store building occupied by Frank Jewett in Amboy several months ago. Attorney John Buckley appeared for Jewett and Attorney William Kehoe for the plaintiff. The suit was started in Justice Court in Amboy and appealed to the Circuit Court. The attorneys are to file authorities with Judge Edwards before the court decides the issue.

RE-ENTER BUSINESS

Henry Abt, who formerly conducted a market and grocery in Dixon and who for a year past has been operating a similar business in Polo during which time he still occupied his residence on the north side, traveling back and forth, has decided to re-enter business in this city. Accordingly he has leased the store room adjacent to the Highway Cafe in the Aschenbrenner building on First street, and expects to open for business Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Abt's many friends will welcome them back to Dixon business circles.

A BALLAD OF THE SANDAL TREE
STOOD beside a sandal tree;
A woodman, axe in hand,
Stood near, and all triumphant
The stately tree he scanned.

He raised his axe above his head,
Then wheeled it o'er and o'er;
And time on time, the broad blade sped,
To find the sandal's care.

At each new blow the woodman dealt
The tree fresh incense breathed:
And to the axe, whose blade it felt,
Its perfume, sweet, bequeathed.

And said I to my restless soul—
"What meaning is there here?"
When, lo! I saw a mystic scroll
That gave this message clear—

"Let man, who bears his brother's blow,
Learn from the sandal tree
That his best wisdom he will show
When like the sandal, he.

In scorn of dealing ill for ill,
Gives blessing back for blow—
Breathes forth a message of goodwill
To his destroying foe."

FLOWER SHOW IS SPONSORED BY DIXON ELKS

Preliminary Plans are Completed For A Spring Exhibit

Exalted Ruler Robert L. Warner and officers of Dixon Lodge of Elks today announced the sponsorship of a flower show to be held at the club house in this city at a date to be decided upon later, the full details of which are now being formulated by special committees which were appointed last evening. A general committee composed of William Nixon, Sr., Harry S. Beard, Louis Knick and J. U. Weyant have outlined preliminary plans by which it is expected to make the flower show an annual affair and in all probability, to conduct two shows each year, one in the spring and another in the fall.

Present prospects point to the holding of the spring show about June 1, when peonies and iris will be at their height of their season in this locality. Growers of flowers in Dixon will be eligible to enter the show. A full list of prizes will be awarded to the successful winners in the different divisions.

For some time, there has been a long felt want in Dixon and vicinity, and the sponsors of the event have every reason to believe that the show will be a highly successful venture. The following committees have been appointed to take charge of the spring flower show by Exalted Ruler Robert L. Warner:

Committees Named
Advertising and publicity—Elbert L. Fulmer, chairman; Walter Fallstrom, Mont H. Hawkins, Walter Knack, Charles E. Miller, Harry Quick, Leonard G. Rorer, George C. Dixon.

Fidelity Life Asso. Meeting on Friday

The Fidelity Life Association held a meeting Friday evening, preceded by a picnic supper at 6:30, which was well attended, the regular meeting following at 8 o'clock. All were given to learn that Past Prefect James Bennett had met with an accident, and is in the Dixon hospital with a broken ankle.

The Dixon lodge is one of the seven booster lodges and will entertain the Booster Club in Dixon April 29 at the Moose hall, with a program and refreshments. Each lodge is represented by three members. From Dixon lodge they are Prefect Mabel Smith, Hazel Wilkins, Sec. and Charles Wolfe, supervisor.

Further details will be printed following the next meeting which is to be held April 22nd. Because of the booster meeting occurring the following Friday, there will be only the regular business meeting.

Prefect Mabel Smith and her committee and members of the lodge plan on a successful Booster meeting, so it is hoped that all officers, as well as members will be present.

Nachusa Unit With Miss Emmert

The Nachusa Unit of the Home Bureau met with Miss Anna Emmert and an interesting meeting held. Mrs. Florence Syverud gave the lesson on "The Selection, Preparation and Serving of Food for Invalids."

SPENT WEEK END IN PRINCETON

Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards spent the week end in Princeton with Mr. and Mrs. John Lahey. Mrs. Lahey was formerly Miss Frances Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards.

ST. AGNES GUILD TO MEET FRIDAY

The members of St. Agnes Guild of St. Luke's Episcopal church will meet Friday afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. S. H. Fleming, 723 E. Third street, with her sister, Mrs. Herbert Nichols, an assistant hostess.

Swedish Prince Weds "Commoner"

Prince Edvard renounced his royal rank when he fell in love with Miss Karin Nissvandt, daughter of a Stockholm merchant—so a wedding followed. Here the prince and his bride are shown as they were leaving a reception given for them in London after they were married at the Prince's Row Register office.

present at the next lodge meeting, as the final arrangements will then be made for April 29th. The lodge closed in regular form, followed by a social hour, all enjoying cards.

To Present Comedy At Duis School

The comedy drama, "Nora, Wake Up," will be presented by the Dixon Dramatic Club at the Duis school house five miles south of Dixon, Thursday evening, April 14, at 8 o'clock. This will be the fourth rendition of this play by the club and on every occasion it has met with hearty recommendation.

Many of the cast were members of the cast in the "Old Fashioned Mother," which was given at this same place, sometime ago.

W. M. S. TO MEET THURSDAY AT CHURCH

The Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet Thursday at 2:30 in the church parlors. The hostesses will be Mesdames Lenox, J. E. White and Floreschuetz. All ladies of the church are invited and members are asked to make a special effort to be present.

WOMEN WILL ENJOY BANQUET WEDNESDAY EVE

A banquet for Dixon business and professional women will be held at the Christian church tomorrow evening at 6:15 o'clock. Rev. E. D. Leatherman, pastor of the Church of the Brethren at Lanark, will be the speaker of the evening.

READS AND DEEP COLLARS PRODUCE COSTUME EFFECT

Washington — (AP) — Striking costume effects may be obtained with beads and deep collars. Madame Fay Ismail Bey, wife of the first secretary of the Egyptian legation, wears with a plain dark dress a deep openwork collar of white silk edged with lace. Her neckpiece of large colored and white beads add a finishing touch.

ST. JAMES MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET

The St. James Missionary Society will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. George LeFevre, at St. James.

UNITY GUILD TO MEET WITH MRS. STACKPOLE

The Unity Guild will hold an all-day meeting with Mrs. C. H. Stackpole, 223 Lincoln Way, Thursday, with a picnic dinner at noon.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF BY ALICIA HART

© 1931 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

It seems to be the season for "red riots"—but don't let one occur at your dressing table. That is, don't let rouge run wild over your countenance. Police yourself and handle those reds with caution. For rouge placed helter-skelter upon the features isn't in line with spring's vogue for meticulous elegance in dress and make-up. However, the fact that rouge make appear at unexpected places upon the face, implies, a studied nonchalance, that is far from being plain carelessness.

For example, perhaps you are of that legion of women whose first glances at themselves in the mirror upon rising reveal faces of ghostly pallor. In this event, watch a synthetic bloom appear when you give your forehead nose and white face a stinging application of rouge. Don't use much, of course—just put it on with fingers that have had a mere passing acquaintance with the rouge pot. After this, apply rouge in the regular places, powder, and note the ill that you receive from the whole process. No longer will you dread facing the day.

Evening gives splendid opportunity to try some more tricks of the rouging trade. Do you feel short on beauty because your nose is long? Well, the faintest suggestion of rouge right smack under the tip of it will give it the appearance of being considerably more abbreviated than it really is. Or perhaps you prefer a short upper lip to the long one which you have. All right—rouge the ridge extending from the nose to the mouth just the slightest bit, and you'll be pleased with the result.

Rouging the lobes of the ears, you may or may not consider in good taste. It depends upon the extent of your desire for exotism. At any rate, rouge placed there often appears to make a fat face seem narrower.

Do you have a long face that seems to grow even longer when you think about it? Well, hold your chin up! For a delicately rouged chin appears shorter. And as for the chins that hold dimples—don't neglect to rouge them for all the world to see!

CARVES POTATOES AS HOBBY

Racine, Wis.—The hobby of S. P. May, photographer, for the last seven years has been carving potatoes into weird effigies, resembling heads of minute mummies. May uses an ordinary pen-knife on an average sized potato. Evaporation of water causes the "green" carving to shrink to the size of a large marble and turn a nut brown.

THE MIRACLE OF A CHILD'S VOICE.

When it was announced the other day that a little 5-year-old boy, at Fairmont, W. Va., had spoken for the first time in his life, following his 97th operation, a great many parents suddenly awakened to the lilted beauty that comes in children's voices.

Their happy, haunting words are taken as a matter of course. They form a rhythmic background to the conversation which older, wiser people make. It usually takes some sort of contrast with another's sorrow or disappointment to reveal something unusual in the uncommon common.

Medical science scored a distinctive victory when it opened the constricted larynx of little Frankie Powell and gave his thin, compressed little voice a chance to break its bonds. It took perseverance. Most of us would have given up somewhere along the chain of surgical work. We expect sudden wonders, not slow and effective growth.

We forget that it takes more than an hour for dull ears to catch the rhyming beauty of April rains; that closed eyes, opened after a long, long time, can't find sunlight and stars and colored flowers all in a minute. It requires time. And 97 operations were necessary before a little boy could speak.

Parents naturally grow weary, occasionally, because of the countless questions which small boys and girls are always asking. But fathers and mothers caught their breath as they thought of the frightening stillness that would come if round red lips never appeared to them for answers which children can't possibly know.

Rooms that have known children's laughter would be strangely lonely if merry voices didn't play hide-and-seek in their corners.

Sometimes it takes another's sorrow to show us how fortunate we are. Contrast with another's unhappiness has revealing power. Sometimes it takes a miracle. And that, in a way, is what the surgeons accomplished when they released a little boy's voice.

SOLEMN PROMISE VS. FREE SUGAR.

The keeping of a solemn promise isn't always such a matter of high-minded altruism as it seems on the surface.

When the House of Representatives voted independence for the Philippines the other day by the one-sided vote of 306 to 47, it might have been thought that the conscience of the republic was at last stirring the legislators to fulfill the pledge that the government made three decades ago.

Underneath, however, motives far less creditable were at work.

Whether this particular independence bill becomes a law or not, it is fairly obvious that the Filipinos are going to get their freedom in the not-distant future. But they will get it, not because Uncle Sam has suddenly grown kindly and solicitous, but because he has discovered that his bread isn't buttered on the side that he had supposed.

Keeping the Philippines, in plain English, is more expensive and troublesome than it is worth. Free Philippine sugar importation hits the American sugar growers where they live. Immigration restrictions are hard to handle, as between an island possession and the mother country. Uncle Sam's pocketbook and his peace of mind will both be better off if Manila is the seat of an independent government.

What considerations of justice and fair play were never able to do, ordinary selfishness is about to accomplish.

Nevertheless, freedom is freedom, no matter how it is gained; and the Filipinos probably will not be too particular about looking this gift horse in the mouth. There is very little doubt that an overwhelming majority in the islands wants independence very much. So long as they get it they will not be inclined to worry greatly about Uncle Sam's motives in giving it.

For the United States, meanwhile, the vote in the House marks the end of an epoch. The gaudy imperialism that was born at the close of the last century seems about ready for decent burial. No longer are we enamored of toting the white man's burden or living according to the gospel of Kipling. Do island colonies cost more than they are worth? If so, we are quite ready to give them up.

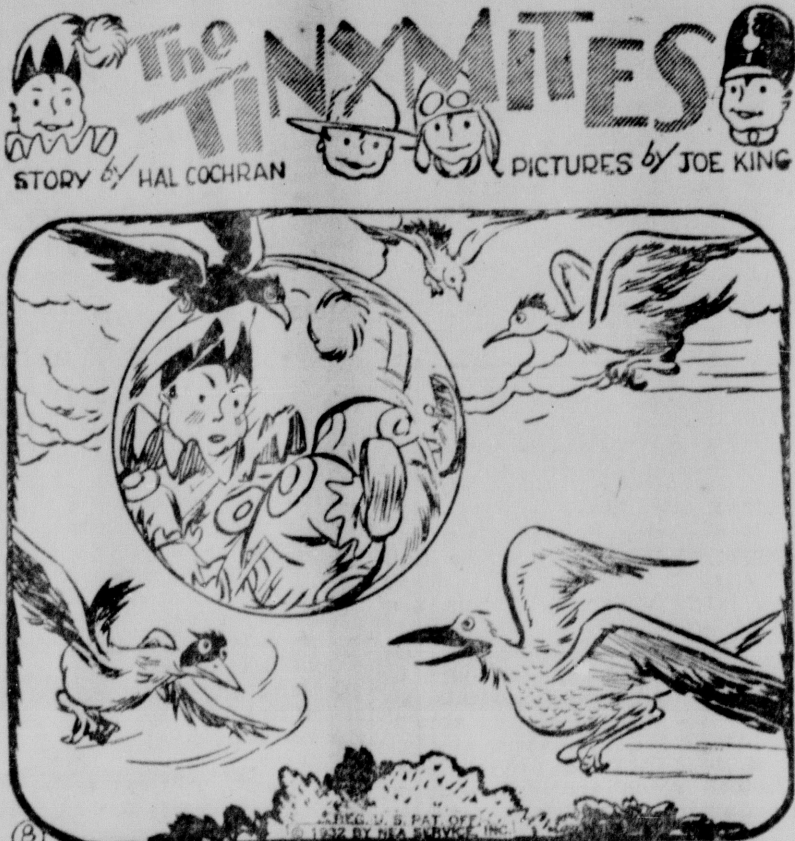

FACTS ON HONOLULU.

Just to keep the record straight, all Americans should read the report issued by Assistant Attorney General Seth Richardson on police and crime conditions in Honolulu.

When the "honor murder" case there first broke, we were told that Honolulu was over-run with potential rapists and that sex crimes were frightfully common there. Mr. Richardson was appointed to look into things.

Now he says that he found no criminal rackets in Hawaii at all, and that sex crimes there are actually less frequent than in most large cities on the mainland. He does blister the Honolulu police administration for its political activity and inefficiency—but are there half a dozen large cities in the continental United States whose police departments could not be criticized in exactly the same way?

In other words, it is clear that Honolulu has been badly maligned. It is important that the public at large realize the fact.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE.

As Duncy sailed on through the air, wee Scouty said, "We've had a scare that's really turned out serious. What are we going to do?"

"The bubble that poor Duncy's in will take him where he's never been. I'll bet he's going to have a thrilling time before he's through."

"But we can't just sit here and wait. Say! Wouldn't it be simply great if Windy had an airplane?"

He could rise right in the air.

"Then he'd find Duncy, sure enough, although the going might be rough. But Windy has no airplane and wee Duncy's still up there."

"Come, let's start running right away. The bubble may drift down our way. Then we could all grab Duncy, ere he plopped down on the ground."

"The monstrous bubble's still in sight. I hope its prisoner's all right, although he's likely dizzy 'cause he's turning 'round and 'round."

So o'er the hills the Tinies went. Of course it was their good intent to try and help, as best they could, to bring poor Duncy back.

All of a sudden Windy said, "There's no use going on ahead. The bubble's out of sight now. It is in a cloud that's black."

And he was right. Away up high some clouds had gathered in the sky, and Duncy eyed them nervously as into them he sailed.

It wasn't very long until he ran into another thrill. Above the clouds some birds came near and Duncy's pink cheeks paled.

Here's where my bubble's nipped, thought he. No bird, however, pecked at it and Duncy had new hope.

The queer birds seemed to realize that they had best protect their eyes. They wouldn't peek the bubble 'cause they knew 'twas made of soap.

(A friend comes to the Tinies' Aid in the next story.)

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — When the gentleman from Georgia—Charlie A. Crisp, acting chairman of the ways and Means committee—was in the midst of the tax bill fight in the House, he received a letter from his son down home. It read:

"Dear Father:

"I am sending you separately some home cured hams which I think you will enjoy. And by the way, if you want to make a spare cash while the house is not sitting, I'll send some more and you can sell them as you have the time."

The father replied:

"Dear Son:

"Thank you for the hams. I know you wouldn't have your old daddy get out during the small hours of the morning and peddle hams. So keep them, please until we balance the budget."

"Mistah Charlie," as he is affectionately known on the hill to his friends, tells this story to illustrate what he went through during the tax fight in the House.

NEEDED A REST—

Las get out of school for the summer vacation perhaps are no happier than were the Democratic leaders of the House when the tax bill fight was brought finally to a close.

The next day a holiday was declared on the south wing of the capitol. Speaker Garner gathered up two or three of his cronies and drove to the race track at Bowie, Md. There they encountered Maryland There they encountered Vice-President Curtis and sympathized with him that his ordeal was yet to come.

Crisp was so exhausted that he felt it necessary to get away completely from Washington. So, as soon as possible he caught a train for Atlantic City, where he spent almost a week.

The others, however, were back on the job bright and early Monday morning. Will Backhead of Alabama, who next to Crisp probably worked as hard as anyone, because he did most of the presiding in the House, turned to golf to forget his fatigue.

HARD FIGHT FOR SENATE—

Fully as desperate a fight on the revenue measure now looms in the Senate. And perhaps as great a physical toll will be exacted of the leaders there as was in the house. Senators are not easily speeded up. Most of them regard it rank here to let anything be passed without plenty of debate.

In Crisp's position in the senate will be that veteran of financial encounters—Reed Smoot of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, which first considers the bill. Smoot has proved his physical endurance before. The way he held up during the long fight on the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill has convinced the hill that he can stand almost anything.

Pat Harrison, rankvg Democrat on the finance committee, too, is capable of taking punishment. Upon Harrison's shoulders will fall the responsibility of seeing that democratic points won in the house will not be sacrificed in a republican-controlled Senate.

PUP HAS EXTRA TAIL.

Marion, O. — (UP)—An unusual tail is that of Mike, eight-months-old fox terrier owned by Charles Almendinger. Mike has a tail growing from his forehead in addition to his normal tail. The extra tail is only a few inches long. Mike was one of a litter of six pups. The others were born with stub tails in the regular place.

UNDERWORLD FOES EXPOSE PURPLE GANG'S DARK RECORD TO LINK CHIEF WITH LINDBERGH KIDNAPING

By NEA Service—

Detroit—Baby Lindbergh, born to the purple of American aristocracy, may be the kidnaped prize of Detroit's dread terrorist Purple Gang. That's the word passing through gang circles here.

Since the Lindbergh baby vanished, police throughout the country have been hunting for Harry Fleisher, one of the leaders of the gang that had been poisoning Detroit's night life for a decade and a half. The search has been vain.

Harry Fleisher was one of the "big shots" of a band that has grown from a frowsy coterie of kids. They started with stealing groceries. They have grown into an organization of killers, kidnapers, hijackers, liquor-runners, alcohol salesmen, extortionists, bombers, thieves, swindlers and so-called muscle men.

"We were not born to the purple," one of the gang chieftains once said, "but we will get there just the same."

That the Lindbergh kidnaping may have been the purple dream of these crime-graduated alley rats has been one of the theories of the police since the baby—and Harry Fleisher—disappeared.

"The Purple Gang is in this thing," is what racketeer-wise Detroiters are saying. "We don't know how they are in it, but we know they are. It's just the kind of a yellow dog trick the Purple Gang would go for."

Police and newspapers often have heralded the doom of the mob. But always it has turned up again, stronger and bolder ever since Prohibition.

When Detroit was appalled by its first wholesale machine gun murder, the Purple boys were found to be responsible. When three gangsters were brutally wiped out in an apartment house in a respectable neighborhood, the job was pinned on the Purple.

It was that last butchery that startled Detroit. The Purples were hated as much by the underworld as by the police. Everybody had tried to smash the organization, and it seemed that the three-way killing would lead to its destruction.

"Nigger Joe" Lebovitz, Izzie Sukter and Hymie Paul were shot to death on the night of Sept. 16. They had been holding a conference with four or five other hoodlums when suddenly the others decided to let guns do their arguing.

As a touch of impudence, the gangsters left alive one of the friends of the three victims, Solly Levine. It was a gesture of supreme contempt for law, and underworld combined, an amazing violation of the age-old code of gangdom. Levine turned informer. Three of the slayers were imprisoned and Solly Levine "took it on the lam."

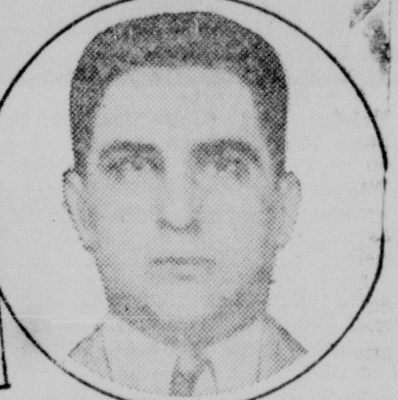

But Harry Fleisher, shrewdest member of the mob, and named by Levine as one of the leaders of the massacre was not to be found. "Find Fleisher," a Detroit vice squad officer said the other day, "and you will find the Lindbergh baby, too."

When the name "Purple" gang? There are several versions of its origin.

During the war a crowd of boys and young men began preying on the merchants of Hastings street, Detroit's Ghetto. The merchants referred to the boys as "off color" and from this the name Purple was evolved.

There are other and more dramatic versions. One of them is that the members of the gang all wear bright colored neckties and always travel with women who are dressed to the height of fashion, the fashion of their over-dressed world. They take a peculiar pride in having the best dressed "molls" in town.

Police say that from his childhood, hood, Fleisher was one of the toughest members of a mob that was nurtured in greed and resentment. It was a gang that was held together by the desire for easy riches, fine automobiles, and "easy" women.

Love of luxury and the companionship of flashily dressed "molls" formed the inspiration for Detroit's dread Purple Gang, police say. Hated by the underworld, enemies of Harry Fleisher, fugitive leader of the mob, shown in inset left above, say he may have engineered kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby. In circle is Irving Rappaport, alleged gunman of the gang once believed smashed, but now supposed to have regained its strength.

With their loot they splashed "molls" and upon themselves the royal purple upon their faces. They carried big bank rolls—and big guns.

In the 15 years since the Purple finger was put upon Detroit, many of the mobsters have become rich. But inevitably when members of the gang are sent to prison, they were found to be broke. Millions of diverted dollars passed through their hands, quickly.

But as rapidly as members of this mob would be imprisoned or killed, by other gangs, recruits would appear in their places. The gangsters of other cities came in as reinforcements. Bellhops were corrupted by the show of wealth. School boys followed their deeds with fascination. The ranks depleted by death or capture found willing replacements.

Now a new finger has been pointed at the mob, and a new search started for Fleisher. It may prove to be the last chapter in the gang's vicious history.

SPORTS OF ALL CLOSE RACES IN PROSPECT; BOTH LEAGUES STRONGER

Sixteen Major League Ball Clubs Off On Long Race Today

New York, Apr. 12.—(AP)—Eight National League baseball clubs have been winning league games on paper for two months or more. With a little cooperation from the weather man, they'll see if it's just as easy to win them on the ball field.

Some 10,000 persons were expected at the four opening games in New York, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

The opening schedule was:
Pittsburgh Pirates at St. Louis Cardinals.
Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati Reds.

Boston Braves at Brooklyn Dodgers.
Phillies at New York Giants.

Whatever the final result of the pennant drive that ends Sept. 25, the league looks forward now to one of the most interesting races in its long history. By trade and purchase, all eight clubs have strengthened weak spots in defense or offense until it appears that not one can be used as a convenient stepping stone for such outstanding contenders as the world champion Cardinals, the Giants or Cubs.

Cardinals Favorites
Perhaps the Cardinals deserve to be rated as heavy favorites to win their third straight pennant, but some observers believe the champions will feel the loss of Burleigh Grimes, veteran right handed pitcher, and outfielder Chick Hefey, league batting champion in 1931.

Except for the pitching staff, the Cardinals, Giants and Cubs start the season with only one change apiece in their lineups. The Cardinals will have Jimmy Collins in the outfield in place of Hefey; the Giants will use Len Koenecke in left field at least when opposition by a right-handed pitcher and the Cubs will play Stanley Hack at third base.

Other New Players
The Phillies' principal addition is outfielder George Davis, while the Braves count on Art Shires at first base and Fritz Knoch at third. The Pirates will present an unchanged lineup although their second baseman, Tony Piet, played only a few games last season.

Brooklyn and Cincinnati present the greatest changes and it is these two clubs that may furnish most of the fireworks.

Brooklyn had added Hack Wulson to the outfield, Tony Cucinello, Joe Stupp and George Kelly to the infield, Clyde Sukeforth to the batting department and Waite Hoyt to the pitching staff. Cincinnati, which rounded out its outfield by trading Benny Frey and Harvey Hendrick to the Cardinals for Hefey yesterday, will have such other newcomers as Babe Herman, Taylor Douthett, Andy High, Wally Gibert, and Ernest Lombardi.

IN AMERICAN LEAGUE
Chicago, Apr. 12.—(AP)—The American League pennant chase, a struggle dominated for six straight years by Philadelphia and New York, broke into the open again today with the same two formidable rivals pitted against each other in the grand inaugural feature at Shibe Park.

Washington's Senators, off to a flying start with an old fashioned 1 to 0 victory over Boston in their 10th inning opener yesterday, moved over to the Red Sox camp for their second engagement. Cleveland invaded its lakeshore rival, Detroit; while the St. Louis Browns braved the chilly blasts of Lake Michigan at the home field of Chicago's White Sox.

Given any encouragement by the weather, nearly 95,000 baseball faithful were expected to watch the big send-offs. Lured by a mid-season natural, 30,000 were anticipated at Philadelphia to view the first test between Babe Ruth and his Yankees and Connie Mack's forces, handpicked favorites to win the 1932 flag.

Chilly Weather Sure
Twenty-five thousand was the promised crowds for each of the Detroit-Cleveland, St. Louis-Chicago games, with 15,000 more at Boston. Chilly weather seemed to be the surest elemental setting for each inaugural.

A lively pitching duel was in prospect at each battle ground, topped by that between Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, the 22-year-old Yankee southpaw, and big George Earnshaw of the Athletics.

Connie Mack had just about the same big baseball guns—Al Simmons, Mickey Cochrane, et al—in position, while Manager Joe McCarthy had a shuffled line-up with the spectacular recruit, Frank Pietro Crosetti at third, Lyn Lary a shortstop and Sammy Byrd the apparent centerfield gardener in place of the veteran Earl Combs. Manager Walter Johnson planned to send another veteran right hander, Fred Marberry, against the Red Sox, who countered with Ed Durham, a right hander who completed a fine record of eight victories and ten defeats with the team last season. The Senators were in high spirits over their victory of yesterday.

Cronin Still Out
Although their star shortstop and clean-up hitter, Joe Cronin, was still out from an attack of tonsillitis, the Senators played errorless baseball, won an inaugural game at home for the first time in four years, Manush's double scoring Moyer was the finishing blow

AUSTRALIAN TRAGEDY—

The death of Phar Lap recalls poignantly the tragedy that ended the career of another great Australian, Les Darcy. There was this difference: Phar Lap died from eating too much, and Les Darcy died from a broken heart.

Darcy was a great middleweight about the time when the World War began. To escape conscription to which Australians would be subject, Darcy and E. T. O'Sullivan shipped from an Australian port. Conscription hadn't been inaugurated, but there was talk of it. They slipped under a canvas on deck and were on the high seas before it became known they had gone.

BESIEGED BY MANAGERS—
The ship was bound for a South American port. They transferred to an oil tanker bound for the United States. Every fight manager in New York wanted to get a "piece" of Darcy. Many of them chartered launches to go out and meet the boat, bringing the fighter. In the early dawn they raced for the privilege of being the first to greet Darcy.

Tex Rickard took along a launch full of newspaper men. Charley Harvey for years importer of British cauliflower, and Harry Pollok hired another speedboat. The launches maneuvered around the big tanker, each trying to be first to board.

O'ROURKE ALREADY THERE—
Harvey's craft beat Rickard's in the jockeying, and Charley boarded and made a dash for Darcy.

But he was met by Tom O'Rourke with a good-natured grin. O'Rourke, with a borrowed newspaper pass, had come aboard hours before.

The race was to no avail after all, O'Rourke explained, as Darcy already was sold on Tex Rickard, who was not seeking to manage the young man but only wanted Darcy's assurance that he would fight under his promotion.

A brilliant future loomed for the Australian, just as a bright prospect stretched ahead for Phar Lap.

But shortly the sinister whisper, "Slacker," went the rounds. It was asked why Darcy was allowed to desert his country in time of war and come to this country to enrich himself while his native land suffered.

Darcy's defense was that he was too young to be accepted in the army, that he was not included in the first draft, that his father and six brothers were in the service and that he was trying to earn enough money to support his mother.

HARVEY KNOWS BETTER—
Darcy was roared down. Governor Whitman of New York barred him from fighting in the state. That crushed Darcy. He left New York and went down into the Tennessee mountains.

A short time later it was reported Darcy had contracted influenza. He died. But you never could tell his friend old Charley Harvey, that the flu caused his death. Old Charley knows better. Old Charley knows that Les Darcy died of a broken heart.

FOREIGN-BORN PROS TO MEET NATIVE STARS

Professional Golfers Association Heeds Formers' Protest

Chicago, Apr. 12.—(AP)—The Professional Golfers' Association of America will give its foreign bred members a chance to show up the native divot diggers.

At the suggestion of President Charles Hall, a tournament is planned for sometime this summer between a team of foreign-born pros in America, led by Willie MacFarlane of New York, and the home bred, captained by Horton Smith.

Since the inception of the Ryder Cup matches between England and the United States, the P. G. A. has heard the protest of pros, who believed the rule barring players born outside of this country from the American teams should be discarded. The protests grew in volume in 1928 when the American team was defeated in England and failed to subside until an American victory at Columbus, Ohio, last year.

"So we have decided to give the foreign-born pros in America a chance to meet the home bred in an All-American match," President Hall said today. "Nothing definite has been arranged except that Willie MacFarlane and Horton Smith have been named in charge of the opposing teams."

The special match, designed to be an annual affair, probably will be staged before the P. G. A. championship at St. Paul in August.

Iowa's New Coach Loudly Welcomed

Iowa City, Iowa, Apr. 12.—(AP)—If a hearty welcome is a harbinger of future success, the University of Iowa's football hopes are bright under Ossie Solem, new head coach.

Solem was entertained last night at a reception attended by almost two thousand students, alumni and sport fans who accorded him a mighty ovation.

Burton Ingwersen, former head football coach and now assistant to Captain "Biff" Jones at Louisiana State, was also cheered loudly when introduced to the crowd. In a short address Solem said there was one thing which everyone interested in the University was agreed upon—a winning football team. "With your help and support, I believe we can have what you all want," he declared.

Sir Malcolm Isn't Satisfied He Says

London, Apr. 12.—(AP)—Travel at some 250 miles an hour should be fast enough to suit the vast majority—but not Sir Malcolm Campbell.

Two months ago the British sportsman boosted the world's land speed record to 253.968 M. P. H. with his Bluebird. Now he already is making plans for another try within a year.

Campbell announced last night he planned to install in the Bluebird an engine of the same type that won the Schneider airplane trophy at 340 M. P. H. and set up a world's speed record of 407 M. P. H. last fall. The new engine, he thinks will develop 2,500 horsepower compared with 1,500 H. P. generated by the engine with which he set up the new auto record at Daytona Beach, Fla. in February.

Vanderbilt Vet. To Coach Sooners

Norman, Okla., Apr. 12.—(AP)—A veteran of Vanderbilt's coaching staff—Lewis W. Hardage—will guide the University of Oklahoma's Sooners over Big Six gridirons next fall.

Hardage, assistant coach at the Nashville University for a decade, was chosen as Oklahoma's head football coach by the University Athletic Council last night.

He succeeds Adrian Lindsey, resigned. Hardage was on Walter Camp's All-American as halfback in 1912 and an All-American selection of Grantland Rice both in that year and in 1911. He played both at Vanderbilt and Auburn.

Benny Leonard Is Not The Old Star

New York, Apr. 12.—(AP)—Old Benny Leonard is far from being the fighter he was ten years ago but he's still good enough to whip the second-rate fighters.

Making another step forward in his comeback campaign, Benny outpointed Buster Brown, Baltimore welterweight, without trouble in a ten round bout at the St. Nicholas arena here last night. Brown won the first round and held the former lightweight boxing champion even in the fourth round but Leonard won every other round, most of them by large margins.

Discussion Of Unsolved Farm Problems; Cures

By JOHN A. SIMPSON

The Swank Bill

Congressman F. B. Swank, of Oklahoma, has introduced a farm marketing bill in the House of Representatives. It is No. H. R. 7797. This bill has the approval of the Farmers Union in its entirety, and in the major part the approval of the other two farm organizations. All three organizations agree that nothing less than most of production for that part of a farmer's products used in this country is a remedy. This bill provides for farmers getting just that thing.

Please write your Congressman today asking for a copy of H. R. 7797. Read it over, study it. If you believe in it, then write both your Senators and your Congressman asking them to support it.

Write to your Congressmen and tell them to make immediate provision for setting every unemployed man to work on public works. Tell your Congressmen to pay these laborers with money signed by the Government instead of the bankers. Say to these Congressmen furnish money for State and county improvement on a basis of no interest to be paid by the county or state.

The great Edison, in an interview published in the New York Times, December 6, 1921, discussed this same question as follows:

"Now, here is Ford proposing to finance Muscle Shoals by an issue of currency. Very well, let us suppose that for a moment that Congress follows his proposal. Personally I don't think Congress has imagination enough to do it, but let us suppose that it does. That the required sum is authorized, say $30,000,000. The bills are issued directly by the Government, as all money ought to be. When the workmen are paid off they receive these United States bills. Except that perhaps the bill may have the engraving of a water dam instead of a railroad train and a ship, as some of the Federal reserve notes have, they will be the same as any other currency, put out by the government; that is, they will be money. They will be based on the public wealth already in Muscle Shoals, and their circulation will increase the public wealth. It is not only the public money, but the public wealth—real wealth.

"When these bills have answered the purpose of building and completing Muscle Shoals, they will be retired by the earnings of the power dam. That is, the people of the United States will have all that they put into Muscle Shoals, and what they can take out for centuries. The endless wealth making water power of that great Tennessee River—with no tax and no increase of the national debt.

"But suppose Congress does not see this, then what?" Mr. Edison was asked.

"Then Congress must fall back on the old way of doing business. It must authorize an issue of currency. That is, it must go out to the money brokers and borrow money of our own national currency to complete great national resources, and we then must pay interest to the money brokers for the use of our own money.

"That is to say, under the old way any time we wish to add to the national wealth we are compelled to add to the national debt. Now, that is what Henry Ford wants to prevent. He thinks it is stupid, and so do I, that for the loan of $30,000,000 of their own money the people of the United States should be compelled to pay $60,000,000—that is what it amounts to with interest. People who will not turn a shovel of dirt nor contribute a pound of money toward the building of Muscle Shoals from the United States, but who want the people who supply the material and do the work. That is the terrible thing about interest. In all our great bond issues the interest is always greater than the principal. All of the great public works cost more than twice the actual cost, on that account. Under the present system of doing business we simply add 120 to 150 per cent to the stated cost."

Two Systems
In closing I want to call your attention to the two systems of running the affairs of the government and business.

One is known as the capitalist system, and the other is the cooperative system. The capitalist system is of the devil's making. It has as its foundation principle selfishness, greed, avarice, and theft, robbery, murder, suicide and war. It operates for profit in order that it may feed the craving for more; that all its victims have it encourages anything that is evil it creates in a man the desire to become a selfish, greedy, inhuman creature that even creeds to be an image of his Creator. It plants a "little seed in the human heart that makes such a person want more than his share of the good things of life. He wants to become a millionaire, and when he has reached that point he wants ten million and when he is worth ten million his craving is greater than ever and he wants one hundred million. When he reaches that point he desires that he have ten times more than he ever wanted one hundred million, and he cares not how he gets it. His plans may mean hungry women, starving children, but he cares no more about them than ants in the dust. His whole ambition is to become a billionaire.

The cooperative system is based on service instead of profit. It has as its attributes selfishness and the brotherhood of man. It is of Christian origin, instead of the devil. I say to you that no man who is a Christian has a right to want more than the average could have. I also just as emphatically say no man has a right to want less for himself and family than the average can have. The Bible is clear on this question. In the fifth chapter of James there is a fearful warning against the ambition to be rich. The first three verses of that chapter read:

"Go to, now ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you.

"Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten.

"Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire."

"I want to give you an illustration, showing the difference between the cooperative and the straitened of the cooperative system. I take the family table, where the father, mother, sons and daughters, and a few friends seat themselves to eat. On this table we find soup and greens, also the delicacies and goodies. Every member of that group is cooperative in spirit. They are Christians they do not want more than their part of all the things on the table. In fact, if some one at that table should become capitalistic in his methods and reach out and say: "I will take all the goodies, the rest of you can have the soup and greens," he would start a riot. The others gathered around that table would not stand for such greed and avarice.

But how do we behave at the national table at the close of the year? One hundred and twenty million people surround the table on which lie the net profits of the year, $90,000,000,000. Under the capitalistic system 4 per cent of the people around that national table reach out with greedy hands and say: "We will take 80 per cent of these net profits and you 96 per cent can have 20 per cent to divide among you." and the pity of the thing is that the 96 per cent do not rise up in righteous indignation and refuse to let the 4 per cent do it.

The job for us is to do our part in ridding the 120,000,000 common people of this country of the 20,000 leeches, who through the interest and profit system bleed white each year the producers of this Nation.

It is our job to see that there is more equitable distribution of the income of the people of this Nation at the close of each year. It is our job to see that those who live by clipping coupons shall have their swollen fortunes clipped through income and inheritance taxes.

It is our job to make the other fellow take his hands out of the farmer's pocket and keep them out!

It is our job to carry to victory the cause that stands for equity, justice and the principles of the Golden Rule to the end that there shall be established in this Nation a real brotherhood of man.

(The End.)

W. F. PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

I believe I can give you some encouragement.

The low retail price of eggs in the cities (we can buy good eggs here in Chicago for 12 to 15 cents a dozen) have created quite a demand for eggs. People get into the habit of eating G.O.P. eggs, the price probably can be advanced if it is done very gradually without their losing their appetite for them.

There are not as many eggs being put in storage as there were a year ago. That is one reason for expecting better prices next fall. Looking forward to a good market then, those who store eggs for future use are getting more courage and confidence and are willing to pay slightly better prices now.

Considering the present egg supply and demand and the prospects for the future, we would have every reason to expect an advance in prices very shortly.

The egg market, however, cannot be considered entirely apart from the general financial situation, which is a very bad and will have a tendency to hold back the advance to some extent.

I am still of the opinion, however, that we will see a gradual improvement in prices for GOOD products.

Raise Chickens to Roasting Size
Last December I advised you to forget the idea of producing broilers (1-1.2 to 2 pound birds) and gave my reasons, which it is not necessary to repeat.

We now have the same situation in the broiler market that we had in the egg market last winter.

There is a large supply of last year's crop still in storage. Fresh broilers, coming from sections in the country where the chickens are hatched very early, are now on the market. As a result of what might be considered a double supply, the price of broilers is unusually low—in fact, they are selling for 15 cents a pound less than they were a year ago.

Fortunately we are not so helpless as we were in the egg market. Eggs have to be sold as they are laid.

But you don't have to sell your young chickens when they weigh two pounds. Feed is cheap. You have plenty of it. Use it to produce pounds of poultry. Raise your birds to roasting size. With the proper feed and management you can get heavy breed chickens up to four or five pounds by the first of September and should get a good price for them that early in the season.

Every year's conditions are different and we have to adjust our plans to fit them, if we want to make money.

Sincerely yours,

W. F. Priebe

HOW TO GROW AN ACRE OF POTATOES

Edw. Brauer

The average production in the United States during the years 1922 to 1926 was 11.7 bushels per acre, while during the same period that in the state of Maine was 260 bushels.

Commercial yields of 500 to 600 bushels per acre are by no means uncommon, and in small areas much larger yields have been secured by members of boys' and girls' agriculture clubs.

A suitable soil is important; gravelly or sandy loam soils are the best. Clover or alfalfa is a good preparatory crop. The soil should be well plowed and thoroughly pulverized before the crop is planted. Fall plowing and spring plowing each has its advocates. As a rule, fall plowing is the most desirable.

The selection of the right variety is an important step in the production of a good crop. The available plant food supply in the soil or applied to the crops is one of the main determining factors as to the yield secured.

High grade seed stock must be used if a large crop is to be harvested. All seed stock should be disinfected in a formaldehyde or corrosive sublimate solution before cutting.

Corrosive sublimate solution—Dissolve 4 ounces of corrosive sublimate in 2 gallons of water, then add 28 gallons of cold water. The length of treatment may vary from 1 to 2 hours. Soak the tubers in the solution. Keep in earthen jars and away from livestock.

Formaldehyde solution—Add 1 pint of formalin to 30 gallons of water. Same length of time as the corrosive sublimate solution.

As a rule the quantity of seed planted is too small to produce maximum acre yields.

Seed pieces should weigh from 1 to 3 ounces and containing from one to three eyes will give better acre yields than small pieces with single eyes.

The seed pieces should be so cut as to give a blocky rather than a wedge shape.

The depth of planting should be varied to conform to the character of the soil and the season of the year.

Good tillage is necessary if a good crop is to be harvested.

Potato diseases may be controlled by the rigid removal of all diseased seed tubers, by the treatment of tubers used for seed, by spraying the foliage and by removing diseased plants.

Potato plants must be protected from insect injury if large yields are to be secured. Leaf chewing insects may be controlled by arsenical poisons; sucking insects by contact insecticides.

Well-graded potatoes will always bring a better price than poorly graded ones.

A good storage house or cellar is necessary if the potato crop is to be held for winter or spring marketing.

Light is injurious to the table quality of the potato.

VISITABLE GRAIN SUPPLY
New York, Apr. 12.—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes in bushels: wheat decreased 4,414,000; corn increased 195,000; oats decreased 699,000; rye decreased 42,000; barley decreased 194,000.

5,086 AUTOS STOLEN
London.—(UPI)—It is officially stated that 5,086 automobiles were reported stolen in the metropolitan area last year, of which 4,869 were recovered.

ILLINOIS CROPS IN GOOD SHAPE DESPITE MARCH

However, Fruit Suffered
Greatly From Bitter
Cold Weather

Springfield, Ill., Apr. 12.—(AP)—Illinois crops were in good condition at the opening of April despite the severe cold spell in March, the Illinois and Federal Departments of Agriculture reported today.

"All plant growth was frozen back by one of the most prolonged and severe cold waves ever recorded in March," the report said. "Damage to fruit buds was heavy. Peach and pear prospects are for very light crops. The heavier damage occurred in the southern-most counties where bud development was more advanced. Damage to apple was heavier than expected, especially to certain varieties, such as Duchess and Delicious, and varying damage to Jonathans. However, the general prospect for apples may be rated as fair unless further bloom damage occurs. Small fruits were also also injured. Truck gardeners in southern Illinois suffered considerable loss both in early planted vegetables and hotbed plants.

"The early growth of winter wheat was set back by the freeze and there was some damage in the low areas. Wheat is rapidly greening up now and injury has been less than expected. Hessian fly is reported in scattered sections of the state. Pastures are below average in condition due to close grazing during the mild winter and to the March freeze which stopped early growth. Some of the early seedlings of clover were killed. Rather heavy losses in spring pigs are reported as a result of the cold.

"Farm grain reserves are above average, due both to low feed requirements during the mild winter and to slow market movement as a result of low prices. With the expected conditions have been fair to favorable for advancing field work which is now nearly up to average. Soil is in good condition for working. Oats seeding in central and southern Illinois is nearing completion and a considerable acreage of corn ground has been plowed. Warmer weather would be beneficial to crop and pasture growth. The moisture supply is sufficient for germination and early growth. Farm wages continue to decline and the supply of farm labor remains in excess of demand.

"The condition of Illinois winter wheat on April 1 was rated at 81 per cent compared with 91 per cent last December 88 per cent a year ago and the ten-year average of 78 per cent.

N. W. winter wheat condition is reported at 75.8 per cent compared with 79.4 per cent last December and 88.8 per cent a year ago. The U. S. winter wheat condition is below average. The condition of Illinois pasture on April 1 was reported at 75 per cent compared with 72 per cent a year ago and the ten-year average of 82 per cent. U. S. pasture condition 73.8 per cent against 76.1 per cent a year ago. Illinois farm wages per month with board were reported at $1.20 against $1.60 last year."

largely from soybeans and oil are macaroni, oils, water-proofing, varnishes, enamels, linoleum, soap, and cheese. American chemists have produced soybean milk which answers most requirements of the dairy product with the exception of making butter. Soybean milk combined with malt and chocolate is a very healthful food, and flour made from soybeans is now being produced in this country from which excellent bread is made. A very delicious soybean pancake flour has recently been introduced to the American market and many who have tried it claim it to be the best they have ever used.

Raw soybeans, ground soybeans, and soybean oil meal are now being used extensively in this country as food for livestock and poultry. It has been discovered, however, that the feeding of raw or uncooked soybeans which contain about 1-5 oil—makes soft pork and soft butter which in many instances are subjected to severe price dockage on the part of buyers.

den will provide, at very little cost, the foods—the vegetables, at least—which not only improve the flavor and variety of the daily meals, but also furnish the minerals and vitamins necessary for a balanced diet.

The garden also makes possible much more attractive meals. Fresh peas, snap beans, greens, young carrots, young beets, spring onions, tomatoes, okra, lettuce, radishes, and possibly sweet corn—these, "out of our own garden," would be luxuries to most city families at any time. Measuring by the low-cost, weekly food supply suggested by the bureau for a family of five, garden vegetables, with plenty of milk, will partly take the place of some of the other foods suggested. Farm Radio

The relationship between dairy science and modern dairy industry will be further explained by O. E. Reed, Chief of the Federal Bureau of Dairy Industry, who gives the fifth of his weekly series of talks in the Department of Agriculture period of the National Farm and Home Hour to be broadcast Monday, April 18.

Other Department of Agriculture programs of the week will give the radio audience the regular Department of Agriculture features and a special economic review of the grain-market situation.

The Land Grant College program of Wednesday, April 20, arranged by the Department and the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, will bring speakers from Virginia, Connecticut, and the Federal Office of Cooperative Extension Work. The complete program for the week follows:

MONDAY, APRIL 18—"April Grain Markets," G. A. Collier, Bureau of Agricultural Economics; "Science and the Dairy Industry," O. E. Reed, Bureau of Dairy Industry.

TUESDAY, APRIL 19—"Planning the Modern Kitchen," Dr. Louise Stanley, Bureau of Home Economics; "The Garden Calendar," W. R. Beattie, Bureau of Plant Industry; "Farm Science News of the Week," Morse Salisbury, Office of Information.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20—"Money Problems of the Farm Home," Mrs. Doris Saunders; "Growing Healthy Chickens," James R. Cates; "The Negro Farmers Make Progress," J. B. Pierce.

THURSDAY, APRIL 21—"Uncle Sam's Forest Rangers."

FRIDAY, APRIL 22—"The Farm Business Library," M. S. Eisenhower, Office of Information; "The Week with the Farm Board," Frank Ridgway, Federal Farm Board; "Cooperative Marketing of Pecans," H. F. Buchanan, Federal Farm Board.

The National Farm and Home Hour is broadcast from 11:30 A. M. to 12:30 P. M., Central Standard Time by stations WOC and KYW.

GARDENS IMPROVE
LOW-COST DIET

This spring and summer, if predictions come true, there will be more gardens in backyards and city lots than in any year since the World War. By a vegetable garden, however small, the family hard hit by employment can often eke out the necessary food supply.

Many localities have planted "subsistence gardens," planned to provide jobs for men out of work, as well as food for their families. Thousands of acres of idle land it is said lie in vacant lots within the boundaries of our large cities. In smaller cities and towns there are more backyards and probably better soil than in large cities. Owners and tenants have been planning many of those spaces to grow food they cannot afford to buy and for the same reason community gardens are developing in many cities.

It is easy to see, says the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, that by raising some vegetables people can provide a part of their food supply which they may not have the money to buy. In one group of well cultivated community gardens some year ago, the average return from a tenth of an acre of land was about $50 worth of vegetables, on the basis of present prices. This represented 100 hours of work—4 hours per week—which was all the time that the garden needed during the season.

There is another advantage in having a backyard garden. When the housewife must buy everything for the table, in a home where the funds are short there is often a serious lack of minerals and vitamins in the family diet. This is true because vegetables and fruits, which are rich in minerals and vitamins, are among the more expensive kinds of food. The backyard garden will provide, at very little cost, the foods—the vegetables, at least—which not only improve the flavor and variety of the daily meals, but also furnish the minerals and vitamins necessary for a balanced diet.

The garden also makes possible much more attractive meals. Fresh peas, snap beans, greens, young carrots, young beets, spring onions, tomatoes, okra, lettuce, radishes, and possibly sweet corn—these, "out of our own garden," would be luxuries to most city families at any time. TRY TO PREVENT ARMS CONFERENCE BECOMING DEBATE

To That End U. S. Delegation Made Concrete Proposal

Washington, April 12 —(AP)—America's proposal at Geneva that heavy mobile guns, heavy tanks and gas be outlawed as implements of war is in line with plans worked out by Norman H. Davis in conference with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson, now on his way to Geneva.

Secretary Stimson and other members of the American delegation believe some concrete step in disarmament must be taken to prevent the Geneva meeting from degenerating into a debating society which will get lost in technical details of disarmament. The Americans are eager to see principles established which will mark the limits of land armament as definitely as naval armament is now restricted.

Fear of invasion, as Gibson explained in presenting the plan, is believed to be the inspiration for the wild expenditures Europe is making for defense. And as heavy offensive weapons are the most expensive items in defense budget the Americans have struck at these in the hope of effecting immediate financial results.

Gibson explained the United States is also willing to join in the outlawry of bombing planes and other offensive weapons which strike terror to civil populations, but started on the heavy mobile guns and heavy tanks which the thought that the problem should not be complicated by considering too many subjects at once. The United States also stands ready to outlaw submarines. That was indicated in Gibson's first plan presented to the conference on March 16.

France's final position on this plan will doubtless settle its fate. France's Tardieu gave guarded approval in his first comment on the Gibson suggestion. But more than fifty plans have been laid before the conference by various nations. There must be long discussion, and the American effort to prevent the conference from being lost in a maze of plans and technical details faces great difficulty.

FRANCE TAKES SLAP
Geneva, Switzerland, April 12 —(AP)—Premier Andre Tardieu of France, representing his own government at the disarmament conference, today assailed the disarmament proposals advanced yesterday by Hugh S. Gibson, the American representative.

Mr. Gibson proposed that tanks, big guns and gas be abolished in the interests of security, but he made no mention of battleships. "The most obvious aggressive weapon," said M. Tardieu, "is the submarine." Abolition of certain types of aggressive arms will not necessarily provide security, he said, but might on the contrary be disadvantageous to an invaded country. The only means to security he declared was common action against aggression.

This was generally accepted as a restatement of the French proposal for placing offensive forces at the disposal of the League of Nations.

In any case, the Premier reminded the conference, this disarmament meeting is under the auspices of the League of Nations and he suggested non-members of the League keep that in mind.

Paris, April 12 —(AP)—America's disarmament proposals advanced yesterday by Hugh S. Gibson at Geneva cannot satisfy France, the newspaper Le Temps said today because they apply only to land armaments without taking consideration of the relationship of that branch to the arms of air and sea.

Le Temps linked the Geneva plan with Secretary of State H. L. Stimson's trip to Europe, suggesting these two developments were impelled by a desire on the part of the American administration to achieve a diplomatic success on the eve of the presidential election.

Because of her geographical position, said the editorial, France needs land armaments which are not needed by other countries sheltered by the sea.

The newspaper characterized the American proposal as apparently an indirect attempt to isolate France. While France is doing everything possible in the cause of international cooperation the editor wrote, other powers seem pre-occupied only with disarming France.

BOERSE REOPENED
Berlin, Apr. 12 —(AP)—The Berlin Boerse and other German stock exchanges opened at noon today with official quotations, after seven months of idleness.

Trading restricted to private transactions was resumed February 25. Even now trading in futures is still barred, however, and the former official list of stock was cut down severely.

FINGERPRINT ON BEDPOST TRAPS GIRL'S SLAYER

Former Galesburg Admits Murder Of Whiting Child

Hammond, Ind., April 12 —(AP)—Glen Shustrom, 23, who police said confessed he attacked and killed 12-year-old Alberta Knight early Sunday morning in Whiting, faced a charge of murder today as Lake county authorities made preparations for quick disposal of his case.

Trapped by a finger print found on the post of the bed in which the girl was sleeping when she met her death shortly after 6 A. M. Sunday, Shustrom admitted, officers said last night, that he entered the girl's room following an all night drinking party in another part of the boarding house operated by Alberta's mother.

Shustrom told police he strangled the girl to death by an electric light cord tightly about her throat. He fled from the house unnoted. The attack occurred only a few minutes after Alberta's mother had gone to work in a restaurant across the street.

Shustrom, an oil refinery employee, came to Whiting from Galesburg, Ill. Mrs. Knight had operated the rooming house here since she came from Crossville, Ill., following the death of her husband, the Rev. Daniel Knight, a year ago.

Brief Summary of Last Night's News

By The Associated Press DOMESTIC:

Washington — Senate Democrats agree upon early enactment of revenue bill.
Washington — Physicians describe Senator Harris' condition as critical.

FOREIGN:

Mexico City — Train from Laredo, Texas, is derailed.
Havana — Three students are held on charges of plotting death of President Machado.
Guayaquil, Ecuador — Rebels who seized two gunboats and fort are captured.

ILLINOIS:

Quincy — Because of lack of April rains, Charles Clarkson, Quincy Country Club professional, said it was necessary to use sprinkling apparatus to prepare golf courses for play.

Chicago — Judge Thomas Taylor denied the petition of Gurnett & Company, Boston brokers, to have an insurance trust fund of $1,100,000 left by the late Knowlton L. Ames declared invalid.

Chicago — The Executive Committee of the National Dairy Show, held in St. Louis for the last three years, voted to suspend this year's show.

Giants Sell Two To Jersey City

New York, Apr. 12 —(AP)—The New York Giants today announced the sale of Jim Chaplin, pitcher, to the Jersey City of the International League and the release of Joe Moore, outfielder, to the same club on option.

Chaplin came up to the Giants from the University of Florida five years ago and was sold to Jersey City. He was repurchased by the Giants for the 1928 season and for the last two years has been a relief hurler. He worked in 16 games last year, was credited with winning 3 and losing none.

Moore was purchased from the San Antonio club of the Texas League in the fall of 1930 but spent last year with Bridgeport, of the Eastern League, on option. He throws right handed but bats left.

Propose Soft Ball League For Dixon

Officers and managers of clubs forming the Dixon soft ball league of last season will meet at Rink's coal office Wednesday evening at 7:30 for the purpose of discussing the advisability of organizing a City League for the coming season. Several new teams have signified a desire to form a city league for the summer months and a meeting will be called at a later date to which all managers will be invited for this purpose.

ZINC HISTORY FOR FAIR
Platteville, Wis. —(UP)—An exhibit being prepared here for the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, in 1933, will include features of the zinc and lead mining industry of this district from its earliest days. It will show equipment used 100 years ago, specimens of ores, and refined products and by-products.

NEW OFFICERS OF DIXON ELKS SEATED MONDAY

Exalted Ruler Robert Warner Named His Committees

Attorney Robert L. Warner last evening was installed as Exalted Ruler of Dixon Lodge No. 779, B. P. O. Elks for the ensuing year, together with the other elective and appointive officers and committees. Officers who will serve the lodge for the coming year are as follows:

Exalted Ruler — Robert L. Warner.
Esteemed Leading Knight — Frank J. Robinson.
Esteemed Loyal Knight — Elmer Jones.
Esteemed Lecturing Knight — Walter Fallstrom.
Secretary — William Nixon, Sr.
Treasurer — Vernon Tennant.
Director of three years — John L. Davies.
Tyler — Charles Duis.
Esquire — H. F. Walder.
Chaplain — A. B. Whitcombe.
Inner Guard — William H. Rhodes.
Delegate to Grand Lodge — Lester Street.
Alternate Delegate — Louis Pitcher.

Following is the list of committees which will be active in the lodge circles for the ensuing year as appointed by Exalted Ruler Warner last evening:

Album — C. C. Hints, Rae Arnold, A. W. Lord.
Auditing — J. C. Graff, F. D. Dana, Wilson W. Dysart.
Billiards — Lee Read, Charles K. Willett, H. A. Lazier.

Cards — George Burch, A. C. H. Crippled Children — Frank H. Kreim, H. H. Badger, C. F. Leake.
J. T. Little, Homer Mulnix, Robert Murdock, John G. Ralston, Tim Sullivan, William J. Sullivan, George Van Nuys, Harry C. Warner, George Wilbur.

Degree team — Chester Barriage, High Burge, Harold Coss, Curtis Gleason, Ralph Gonnerman, F. W. Johnson, Clarence Osborne, Lytle Prescott, Lawrence Poole, Robert Seales.

TIDE HANDLES HUGE LOG
South Bend, Wash. —(UP)—A spruce log, 28 feet long and 14 feet in diameter, which was the butt of a tree that took 11 flat cars to carry, finally went down to the bay with a tide after being in the Columbia Box & Lumber company's mill pond for 20 years. The log could not be hauled into the head rig without tearing out part of the mill building. It finally was pushed into the current—a much scarred derelict.

Filipino Leaders Hail Initial Triumph

Congratulations were in order for Commissioners Pedro Guerra (left) and Camilo Ocasio (right) of the Philippine Islands. For when this picture was taken in Washington, the House of Representatives had just passed a bill to grant complete independence to the Philippines effective probably in 1940. The measure had yet to receive the Senate's approval.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

LIKE A TRIP TO ANOTHER PLANET

Reading "Bright Skin," Julia Peterkin's new novel, is like taking a trip to another planet.

The Negroes of the south Atlantic coastal swamps, brought to life faithfully and with sure artistry in this book, are alien in more than the color of their skin. They seem to be set apart by many miles of space and many years of time—a lost tribe that took a strange fork in the road somewhere and worked out its own salvation on a by-path, unnoticed by the rest of society.

The plot of the story is simple. Blue, a young boy, goes to live with his grandparents when his father and mother break up their home. There he comes to manhood, meets the "bright skin" girl, Cricket, falls in love with her, marries her and is, at last, deserted by her.

That is all there is to it—on the surface. But Mrs. Peterkin makes this plain, unadorned tale touch your heart, profoundly, so that it becomes not just the story of some ignorant southern Negroes but a legend to embody the loneliness and the heartaches of all human beings everywhere.

The perpetually unsatisfied heart hunger of Blue, the restless way in which the bright-skin girl Cricket yearns for a glimpse beyond the horizon, the pathetic bewilderment of the Negro pickaninny who falls afoul of a callous policeman on his trip to town—these are things in which we all share. They are true for us and of us.

What I am trying to say, in brief, is that "Bright Skin" is an exceptionally fine novel.

DARROW HOLDS OPENING FIRE IN MURDER CASE

Delays Making Opening Statement To Jury In Honolulu

Honolulu, April 12 —(AP)—Efforts to picture what happened in the home of Mrs. Granville Fortescue January 8, when Joseph Kahahawai was allegedly lynched, were made by the prosecution today in the trial of the society woman and three Navy men for the killing.

John C. Kelley, Public Prosecutor, has produced witnesses who linked the defendants with the abduction of Kahahawai and with the motor car stopped by police while rushing toward Koko Head with the body, which apparently was to have been thrown to the sharks.

The Prosecutor lined up today's witnesses in an attempt to show that the killing took place in the Fortescue home.

He did not reveal the names of those summoned to take the stand and, as far as is publicly known, he has no actual witnesses to the shooting which ended Kahahawai's life.

Opening Statements
In his opening statement Kelley told the racially mixed jury something of what he expected to prove concerning the home.

Two officers, he said, went to the place after the shooting and found windows closed and blinds drawn. They found a revolver, he said, and a bullet lying on a table.

A purse containing a photograph of Kahahawai, a cap which had been worn by the victim, blood stains, a rope identical with that used to bind Kahahawai's sheet-enveloped body, and evidence indicating the floor had been recently mopped were found in the house, Kelley said.

Mrs. Fortescue and the other defendants, Lieut. Thomas H. Maclellan, E. J. Lord and A. O. Jones reacted in various ways to the

TRAVELING MAN ENDORSES ALL-BRAN

Says It Brought Relief From Constipation

"I want to take this unsolicited means to tell you what ALL-BRAN has done for me.

"I am on the road all the time and this has a tendency to constipate me, or any one who travels all the time. I used to suffer a great deal from constipation, until some one told me about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since I have been eating this cereal, I have been cured of constipation. I heartily endorse it to any one suffering as I did."

Mr. B. F. Pollard, Marion, N. C.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN provides both. At the same time, it supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently cleans the intestines of wastes. Being a natural corrective ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming.

How much better than risking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Two tablespoons daily will overcome most types of constipation—serious cases, with every meal. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NEW COMPANY IS FORMED TO TAKE OVER SECURITIES

Reorganization of Insull Interests Is Reported Under Way

Chicago, Apr. 12 —(AP)—The Tribune said today a new concern backed by new capital, is to supplant the Utilities Securities Company, with its activities confined to distributing the securities of the various Insull interests.

The big Insull operating companies, Commonwealth Edison, People's Gas, and the Public Service of Northern Illinois, the paper said, will supply the backing and the new company will not take over certain commitments made by the present concern.

The commitments will be taken over and eventually liquidated by the principal operating companies and the revamping will serve to make the Utilities Securities only the original purpose for which it was created.

The paper reported the decision to reorganize was reached yesterday after a conference between Samuel Insull and various bankers, but neither Insull nor officials of his concerns would discuss the situation.

They were likewise silent on the current negotiations over the financial problems of the Middle West Utilities, Insull holding company, although the Tribune said it was understood no definite plan has been worked out. It was reported a reorganization committee for Middle West may be announced in the near future.

Between 1819 and 1824, Faraday made many combinations of iron with other metals and examined them scientifically. Not until modern metallurgical equipment was installed in our manufacturing plants in recent years, however, did alloy irons and alloy steels become commercially possible.

Ashton Treasurer Reduced Own Pay

(Telephone Special Service)

Ashton, Apr. 12 —(William H. Ashton was re-elected director of the Ashton Lafayette township school board at the election held Saturday, to serve for a period of three years. At a meeting following the election, Paul Charters was appointed treasurer for another term, and at his own suggestion, reduced his salary 25 per cent over recent years.

ENOUGH CONCRETE WILL BE USED IN THE HOOVER DAM TO BUILD A PAVED HIGHWAY, 22 FEET WIDE AND 5 INCHES THICK, FROM NEW YORK TO SAN FRANCISCO.

The SKATING LAKE OF KENYA COLONY, AFRICA, IS LOCATED EXACTLY ON THE EQUATOR.

The GREEN PHALANGER IS THE ONLY ANIMAL KNOWN WITH GREEN FUR.

On Mount Kenya, right in the heart of tropical Africa, blizzards occur throughout most of the year. From March until July, however, the weather is ideal for winter sports, and on top of the mountain is located the skating lake of Kenya Colony. With an altitude of 15,000 feet the lake has no cause to fear the burning rays of the equatorial sun. Only a few miles from the frozen lake are the steaming tropics.

Australia furnishes the world's green phalanger, the only known animal that wears a greenish coat. The greenish coloring of certain sloths, found in South America, is caused by a plant-like growth clinging to the fur and is not a part of the animal's true color scheme.

Illinois Hens On Top In Contests

Springfield, Ill., — First place honors were won by Illinois hens, competing with fowls from farms all over the United States, in both divisions of the state's egg laying contest for the month of March, it was announced here today by the State Department of Agriculture. The contests were held in state egg laying experimental stations at Quincy, Kankakee and Murphysboro.

The cup for the month's best record from any pen of five hens in the Mediterranean class won by the Millway Hatchery of McNabb, Ill. five white leghorns laying 150 eggs out of a possible 155 during the month.

In the American, Asiatic and English classes, the best pen record was 146 eggs, established by five buff orpingtons, owned by Carl E. Bosley, Tonica, Ill.

Owners of other pens from Illinois clocks that placed in the honor roll during the month are listed as follows:

White leghorns—R. C. Ruppel of Beardstown, 144; Illinois Hatchery, Metropolis, 142.

Rhode Island Reds—R. M. Schlesinger, New Athens, 134 and 130.

Barred Plymouth Rocks—W. C. Does, of Lonest, 136.

White Wyandottes—Corn Belt Hatchery, Kankakee, 17.

White Plymouth Rocks—Millway Hatchery, McNabb, 125.

Some of the safe-deposit vault doors in the United States banks have four locks with 13,531,000 different combinations.

HOOVER OPENS RED CROSS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Praised Members For Daily Demonstration Of Devotion

Washington, April 11—(AP)—President Hoover today praised members of the American Red Cross in the name of the American people for what he termed a daily demonstration of a fine sense of devotion.

The President stood in Continental Hall before the annual convention of the Red Cross and declared it would be "a neglect of duty" if he did not join in the opening of its meeting. He is President of the organization. His decision to address it was unexpected and was not announced until just before he left the Executive Mansion.

He spoke extemporaneously but with feeling. Before him, as he stood upon the low platform of the hall, was a colorful gathering. In one section a group of Red Cross nurses, wearing white and blue, yellow and white uniforms formed a solid block of color.

Mr. Hoover was introduced by John Baiton Payne, Chairman of the Red Cross.

During the past year, the President said in opening his brief address, the Red Cross has carried a great load in the alleviation of suffering brought on by drought, flood, storm and unemployment.

The President said that in the name of the American people he wished to convey to every individual within the Red Cross the appreciation and gratitude of the nation. He added a hope the organization would continue to pursue with resolution and courage its far-flung task.

Jo Daviess Hens Show Real Profits

Elizabeth, Ill.—As much as $1.15 a hen in net cash receipts were returned by some poultry flocks in this county last year, despite the fact that prices were low, Farm Adviser H. R. Brunhewer, reported.

Owners of the flocks are enrolled in the flock record projects being carried on by the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois and county farm advisers to demonstrate the profit making merits of up to date methods of feeding, culling, breeding and housing.

The highest flock for the second year was owned by Mrs. Fred Lange, living near here, who realized net profits of 86 cents a hen after she had allowed for all operating expenses, 6 percent interest on the investment and a labor wage for herself. Her 145 hens averaged 172 eggs each. The state average for all flocks in the project was 156 eggs a hen and net profits of 57 cents a hen.

Net profits of 64 cents a hen gave Mrs. A. L. Frazier, Stockton, the second best flock in the county. She got an average of 154 eggs a hen.

Mrs. C. W. Speer and Mrs. John Reusch, both living near here, each turned in egg records that were better than the state average. The former got 146 eggs a hen and the latter, 142 eggs a hen.

State Second In Cattle Judging

Fort Atkinson, Wis., April 12—(Special)—Illinois was second only to Wisconsin in the number of winners in the nation-wide cattle judging contest, just ended, which is conducted annually by Hoard's Dairyman, national dairy farm magazine.

Competing with more than 45,000 other dairymen, Reinhold J. Johnson, of Rockford (827-15th St.) won ninth in the senior division and Frank DeYoung, Wadsworth won eleventh in the junior division.

Seniors who won honorable mention included Robt. L. Hauswald, Galesburg; Fred Patterson, Jr.,

BEGIN HERE TODAY

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORYCHAPTER XII

EVERY time the telephone rang during the next few days Susan's heart raced like a wild thing. But as the days passed hope died.

"Surely he'll call me just once again to say goodbye," she thought. Her moods veered from wild exhilaration to deepest gloom. At one moment she would be certain that she had been right about the kinship of feeling existing between herself and Bob Dunbar that day at the Blackstone. Again she would be as certain she had been completely wrong. The flushes and fevers and chills of first love possessed her. She moved like a person in a dream. Aunt Jessie's sharpest speeches fell on deaf ears these days.

"I declare I don't know what's got into you," her aunt would say. Susan scarcely heard her. She never went out on the street at lunch hour, never joined the home-going throngs without experiencing a sudden wild hope that she would see the face she sought or hear that deep, remembered voice. This was the thought that colored all her days. It made even the hot, tiresome journey back and forth on stilling street cars endurable.

Today it might be today, she would think. He would telephone and finish what he had started to tell her a week ago. But at last her dream died. That was the morning Susan read in a newspaper gossip column, the same fairly leaping at her from the printed page that Bob Dunbar had caused for Europe. She was so white and still that morning that even Pier son the stolid bookkeeper, glanced at her with something like alarm.

"Guess you ate something that disagreed with you," he remarked. Susan gave him a look in which envy and contempt were mingled. Fancy being so dull and so fortunate, she thought, as to believe life could be that simple. But the tire some little man felt an honest sym pathy for her, if she had only known it. He was shrewd, than she thought and had more delicacy than she gave him credit for.

"The long day, wore on. 'He's gone, he's gone,' ticked the clock. 'He didn't even say goodbye to you.' Her heart was a lump of solid ice. She went to lunch in a still date. The men and women in the sandwich shop were shapes in a dream and everywhere, every where, boys and girls seemed to walk in pairs. In all that busy mid summer noonday only Susan Carey was alone.

It was two o'clock. After countless less ages it was three. She typed steadily, thinking to dull by un ceasing effort the pain that racked her head.

"Oh, I beg your pardon. Did you—did you speak to me before?" The woman standing outside the office gate was cool, poised, elegant. Her ash blond hair was folded back in wings under her smart black hat. Her expression was one of amused disdain.

"Only three or four times," the woman said, her tone suggesting that Susan was not only dull but inattentive.

"This typewriter is so noisy," the girl began to explain in confusion. Instantly she felt she had said the wrong thing. Her caller's expression of remote amusement deep ened.

"It's of no consequence," she said crisply. "Mr. Heath's not in, then?" Susan had risen. In her embarrassment she stammered as a child might. "No, he's not. Is there any message I can take?" For an answer the woman in black clicked open the gate with accustomed fingers and said fretfully, "I'll wait. He's expecting me." Then, since the girl continued to look surprised, she exclaimed impatiently, "Mrs. Heath."

That was all but she had reduced Susan to the merest pup. Her manner had been that of the princess who rebukes the loutish servant.

"I'm sorry, I didn't know" the girl said in a low voice. But Mrs. Heath had already ensconced her self in the most comfortable chair in her husband's office and did not trouble to reply.

Pier son came in, ducked his head in the direction of the private room in an obscure gesture of recognition, and disappeared into his favorite haven, the vault. Susan could hope for no assistance from that quarter. She worked on Jack Waring slammed open the other door and bustled in, whistling a dance tune.

"How's every little—" he began with customary exuberance. The words died on his lips as he caught sight of the still, aristocratic figure in black.

"Ah, Mrs. Heath!" His manner underwent a subtle change. The lady gave him a slow smile but her accents were sweet.

"Nice to see you. It's been ages." Waring bowed over her hand. Susan could hear the ripple of light laughter. In the tall of her eye she could see the man light a cigarette held in the woman's long white fingers. An emerald, big as a ro's egg, gleamed on one of them.

"Cannes—just like every other place—St. Jean de Luz—home on the Berengaria—" She could hear the cool, disdainful voice trailing on. She wondered what manner of woman this was. Waring's usual gay insouciance was dimmed. He was respectful rather than gay. Susan was ever so slightly amused at this. "She must be what Aunt Jessie calls a regular Tartar, to affect him in that way," observed the young girl to herself.

Presently Ernest Heath entered Susan had a distinct sense of relief. Now her responsibility ended. "My dear, I didn't expect you until tomorrow!"

The lady laughed again, not altogether agreeably. She gave the tips of her fingers to her husband and an oblique glance to the younger man.

"Ernest is so amusing. He always wants things to happen according to schedule." And, indeed, Heath seemed annoyed.

"I think you might have wired. I should certainly have met you." He seemed aggrieved. There was an undertone of real contention in their light talk. Susan tried not to listen.

"I always like to give you surprises!" There was an edge to Mrs. Heath's tone. "One never knows—" Her voice trailed off and whether unwittingly or not her gaze strayed to the young girl typing furiously at her desk. Susan heard Heath say with some heat that he disliked surprises intensely.

After a tactful moment Waring slipped away and Susan was summoned to Pier son's cubbyhole to help him check some figures. She grew absorbed in the task and for got to notice the hum of voices, now low and rather monotonous, in the private office.

In an interlude Pier son inquired with a jerk of his head, "How d'ye like her ladyship?" Susan dashed, "She's very attractive."

Pier son drew down his left eyelid in a grotesque wink. "Some boss, she is! I feel sorry for the old man."

Abruptly he adjusted his expression and began monotonously to read figures aloud. Mrs. Heath was leaving.

SUSAN heard her name called. Her employer, looking mildly flustered, said, "You've not met Mrs. Heath, I believe, Miss Carey." Mrs. Heath looked into space a fraction of an inch over Susan's head and the travesty of a smile visited her thin, beautifully molded lips. Then she was gone, leaving a drift of expensive, subtle scent behind her.

"Whew! Thank God that's over," muttered the bookkeeper as the hall door slammed. "We won't have another visitation for another six months."

Susan told herself that of course she didn't mind it Mrs. Heath treated her like the paper on the wall. Why should she? She didn't know what the rules of etiquette for employers' wives were, but she rather thought a more gracious mood was indicated. Oh, well, what did it matter?

"I'm leaving for the day," Heath said over her shoulder. His pale, ascetic face seemed flushed and annoyed. "If MacWhig calls from New York tell the operator to get my house after four o'clock."

Jack Waring sauntered over to Susan's desk later.

"Ritized you, eh?" His keen eyes under his sandy thatch were smiling but sympathetic.

Susan shrugged. "I guess so. What does it matter?" But there was a line of bitterness about her young mouth.

"Child, don't you care!" She looked up, surprised, at the earnestness of Waring's usually bantering voice. She avoided him these days, fearing a recurrence of his flirtatious manner. But Waring seemed wholly in earnest. Almost fatherly.

"Thanks," Susan said soberly. She was struck by new, not altogether unwelcome thought.

What if she should find a friend in this man? (To Be Continued)

Cook County Tax Case Is Appealed

Springfield, Ill., April 11—(AP)—Reply briefs and arguments were filed by Cook county officials in their appeal against the decision of Judge Jarecki, holding the 1928 and 1929 assessment rolls fraudulent and illegal.

Lawyers for taxing bodies in the county contended that no court has the power to declare an assessment roll illegal or void in its entirety.

The only power courts have in fixing valuation of property for assessment purpose, it is the power of mandamus to compel the performance of duties, the briefs and arguments said.

Last week the Supreme Court in the case of James E. Blator and others upheld the 1929 assessment roll. The present case is the Lillian Cesar case.

TABERNACLE IS FILLED TO OVERFLOWING SUNDAY

Many Unable To Hear Evangelist Cantrell Sunday Night

The large tabernacle on West Boyd street build for the Cantrell revival meetings now going on was not large enough to accommodate the great crowd that turned out Sunday night. Although a dozen extra pews had been placed in available places, vacant seats in the choir loft and ministers section filled, and with many standing along the walls, many came to the doors and were turned away because of lack of room. The campaign committee are formulating plans to enlarge the structure in the near future so as to accommodate the ever increasing audiences.

"I am going to preach a little slower tonight," said Evangelist Cantrell in opening his sermon. "So that all of you may hear and understand me." He did not do anything of the kind. Within five minutes he had launched into the middle of his theme and his language was flowing like water over the big dam.

Ray Harris, with Dick Choate and Mrs. Cantrell at the pianos, led the great chorus choir in a wonderful service of song. Such services as that of last evening can only be enjoyed when large numbers of Christian people unite together as these churches of our city are doing in this campaign. When the best singers of all the churches unite their voices in praise under a masterful leader like Mr. Harris it produces an effect that cannot fail to stir the souls of the vast multitudes. Rev. Paul Gordon and wife sang a duet which was greatly appreciated.

Patriotic Service

A patriotic service was held in the afternoon at which time Rev. Cantrell brought an eloquent message upon "America, Past, Present and Future." Representatives of several patriotic organizations were present including the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Spanish American War Veterans, Sons of Veterans and the G. A. R. Three Civil War veterans, Comrades, Coltrin, Johnson and Miller occupied places of honor upon the platform. Rev. Harris stirred the large audience with his solo, "Country Mine." Many patriotic airs were sung by the large chorus choir.

There was no service at the tabernacle Monday, as Monday is observed as rest night. This evening will be Sunday School night again and each Sunday School of the cooperating churches will compete to see who can have the largest delegation present. The young people will meet at the Christian church at 6:45 for their special service preliminary to the tabernacle service. Groups of the young people went upon sunshine missions Sunday afternoon, singing songs for shut-ins and the sick.

Amusement Sermon

"Friday night," announced the evangelist, "I will deal with the amusement problem. I will base my sermon on 'Card playing, Dancing and Booze.'" The evangelist ejected a spirit of fun and rivalry into the collection Sunday night. He previously suggested that each person bring a penny-a-pound for his weight. Ray Harris suggested that he would pit the choir against the audience. The stream of dollar bills that was carried to the platform was a novel scene. The choir laid down approximately seventy dollars, while the audience had only sent up about fifty. This was changed when the collection pans were passed for the audience put in a total of $95 making the total offering $164. Including the afternoon offering the collections totaled over $300.

"We are not just trying to see how much money we can get, but we want to get the running expenses of this meeting out of the road as soon as possible," said the evangelist. "After we get enough to pay the running expenses, no more collections will be taken till the closing day when you folks can give me something, if you want to."

The evangelist took for his subject last night, "The Hour is Come." The text of his sermon in part, follows:

"In John 17:1 Jesus prayed, 'The hour is Come' Father glorify thy son.' So I say the hour has come for us to glorify Jesus. Let your light shine—don't be like a lightning bug and hang is out being. Let your light shine. When you see Paderewski what do you think of? When you see 57 varieties what do you think of? When people see you do they think of a prayer meeting or a poker game?"

"The hour has come to live for God. Why not try and look as nice for Jesus as we do for our friends? The other day we were looking through the old family album. There was a picture of a little boy. His hair stuck out like a block of oil derricks. His ears stuck out like wings on an airplane. Two teeth were gone. A little 'ain't I sweet' smile was on his face. He was all dressed up in a little Lord Fauntleroy suit, a st shirt and a big bow tie, with a little flag in his hand. I asked 'Ma, who is that?' A look of adoration blazed in her eyes as she smiled. 'Son, that is you.' Do we go through all that for God?"

Read Bible

"The hour has come to read the Bible. You can't quote Longfellow or some other fellow to the singer. You can't put out any religion of Christ unless you have some yourself. You can't expect a baldheaded man to sell hair restorer. If you want to get drunk, drink bootleg. If you want to get arrested, break the law. If you want to get religion read the Bible. Obeying the great commission means carry the gospel—not bury.

Fault Finders

"The hour has come to stop finding fault with the preacher. Of course, if you only had time to preach, God would need no one else!"

"Don't look for the mote in your brother's eye until you pull the beam out of your own. Don't holler about the crook in office as long as you lie about your own taxes. Wipe your glasses before you talk about the neighbor's dirty clothes."

"Destroy our churches, but you have not destroyed Christianity. Destroy our schools but you have not destroyed our English language. Our Christianity is so firmly embedded even old Ingersoll, who preached against it, has practiced it to some extent."

"The hour has come for us to carry to the people of America, our God, who can push back the waters of the Red Sea—who can rain the manna from the heaven; who can strike the shackles of bondage from a nation of slaves; who can stop the sun on its journey to give a victory; who can close the mouths of lions; who can throw open the prison doors; France hanging on by the skin of her teeth, her munitions gone, commissary and treasury empty, her last boy in the trenches—cabled us and it is in the records at Washington, 'Hurry, America, for God's sake, hurry!' So this world fighting for existence, with her back to the wall, business at a standstill, hundreds of thousands without a job, robbed of a miracle-performing God, with no faith to fall back upon, cries to the churches of Christ. 'Hurry, for God's sake, hurry with your message of faith and a power-performing Christ.'"

"Let your light shine, not make your light shine."

"The old hen cackled, 'Our church won't go into a revival because it gets in too many of the undesirables.' That old dame don't want her crowd of gin-guzzling, card-playing, free lovers, contaminated.

"What gets me is that she calls herself a Christian—I'll bet she never poked her nose inside of a Bible."

"The hour has come to go anywhere and do anything for Jesus. Years ago two Salvation Army lassies walked up an old rickety flight of stairs, pushed open the door to a room that was filthy and dirty. In one corner was a broken table, bare except for a bottle of half-sour milk. In a corner sat an old man, dirty, unkempt, his feet swathed in bandages."

"The girls busied themselves cleaning the room and removing the bandages that had hardened and matted to the sores, and washed the old man's feet. They told him the story of Jesus. His mind was as dark as a heathen's. He cursed and swore, but they were firm in their high purpose."

"They continued to come with their good deeds, and the story of Jesus and his love. The old man was converted. He would sit for hours with the Bible on his lap."

"One day the old man lay on his bed. The girls were there. He reached up and taking them by the hands, said in a voice, choked with emotion, 'I'm goin' ter die, gals, 'I'm goin' ter die, and when I get to Heaven I'm going up ter Jesus and say, 'Jesus, I want ter sit out here by the gate.' And, gals, I'm going to sit there until I see yer coming; then I'm goin' to lead yer to Jesus and I'm going to say, 'Jesus, here's the gals that washed my feet!'"

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

THE CLIMAX NEARS.

Editor Telegraph: As this is written all eyes are focused on Congress in anticipation of pending action on measures designed to grant immediate payment of the balance due World War veterans on their adjusted service certificates. To those on the side lines the sales tax conflict in Congress is not only a struggle between political behemoths seeking to outmaneuver each other in the face of impending elections but also a clever campaign to discourage further government appropriations—namely proposed cash payment of adjusted service certificates. Although they know full well that the V. F. W. plan for cash payment will not entail one additional cent of taxes, this emphasis of the need of increased revenue is simply another smoke screen conceived to befog veterans issue.

In truth, administration leaders at this writing, are virtually panic stricken at the thought of what appears certain to happen when the cash payment comes to a vote in Congress. Misrepresentations, confusing propaganda, dire predictions and all forms of chicanery have been marshalled in a desperate attempt to counteract an overwhelming favorable sentiment. Capitol Hill in Washington has virtually been snowed under with thousands upon thousands of letters, telegrams and petitions to representatives and senators. In the meantime administration spokesmen have been "whistling in the dark" trying vainly to ignore the "bonus ghost" that is haunting their every movement.

Unless some strange and unforeseen development suddenly enters the picture, the immediate future will bring this issue to a climax, and as soon as Congress indicates its readiness to consider the V. F. W. proposal for immediate cash payment, this organization will be prepared to let loose its final broad-side, with the concentrated power and strength of all its resources, in a drive that will see no peace until the enemies of veteran welfare have been put to rout and America has fulfilled its obligations to those who have kept faith with its traditions of loyalty and service.

Relief Commission Will Report Apr. 19

Chicago, April 11.—(AP)—The Joint Emergency Relief Commission will report to Gov. L. L. Emerson and the General Assembly on April 19 on the disbursement, to date, of the $18,500,000 in relief funds appropriated by the special session of the legislature.

It will be the first public announcement of the commission's allotments to the needy of Illinois counties.

It was learned today from the commission that enough funds had been allotted to downstate counties to last, under present needs and expectations, until well into next winter.

No downstate county has received its entire allotment. The disbursements are made monthly, on the investigators' reports of expected needs.
